

CARLISLE VERY BUSY.

Washington Official Circles Are Depleted, the Secretary of the Treasury Being the Only Exception.

A Dearth of Campaign Congressional Speakers is Experienced by Both of the Political Parties.

Some Conjectures as to Presidential Nominees of Either Party—Stevenson's Independent Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—[Special to The Herald.]—With congress, the president and seven of the eight members of the cabinet away, Washington is about as dull as Danville is after a circus. Secretary Carlisle is the only cabinet officer in the city and if his duties did not compel him to remain here, he would soon be away. The secretary of the treasury has had enough business to attend to since Sept. 1 to keep ten men employed. He has issued all orders to collectors of customs and revenue officers himself. His office has been exhausted, all obscure passages of the law have been construed all disputed paragraphs him self. He has prepared a number of lengthy decisions for inspection, etc. The result is that the new law is working as smoothly as can be. There has been a number of speeches which come from custom house officials whenever there is a new tariff law passed. It takes a year usually for custom house officials to accommodate themselves with changes in the new code. Such was the case when the McKinley law went into effect, when the tariff of 1883 became the law in fact, it has been the case with the political policy of the government was affected. He has left none of his work to his subordinates, but has attended to the details himself.

Both congressional committees are calling for volunteer speakers, and up to this time not very many have come forward to offer their services in other states than their own. Every one who was placed on an available list and before the campaign closes, every one who has offered to speak will be given an opportunity to educate the people on the burning issues of the day. Lawrence Garcier, secretary of the Democratic congressional committee, says that the South, more than any other section of the country, demands campaign speakers. Credit will be exercised by the committee in its selection of orators for the South as that section has a very different line of eloquence. The South has the Populists to fight, and the plan of fighting the devil with fire is general. The all Southern districts. Democratic orators are needed for stamping the states of Georgia, Alabama and Texas. The campaign committee has secured, from the treasury, amounts over 1000 silver dollars bearing the stamp of the committee is distributing the coin wherever the Populists have raised the issue, and the people will be taught kindergarten object lessons that not only is the silver being coined, but that the seigniorage is being paid in money form. The committee needs to do all it can to make big gains in the West—especially in Illinois—and that will be the chief point of attack. In some of the more important districts where the contests are to be held, there are only the liveliest kind of a canvass to be given. Democratic candidate from defeat, members of congress are endeavoring to supply their own congressional stump speakers, in addition to those assigned them by the committee. Democratic senators who have no political battles of their own to fight will very well be freely used during the coming election.

It is interesting to note, to what sections of the country certain senators and representatives are being sent. Mills will be sent to Illinois and Michigan, while Senator Ladd, who is his opposite, will go to the Southwest. Senator Gorden, of Georgia, on account of his unproven views regarding the old soldier question, will be sent to the Western states. Brist of Ohio, will be assigned to New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. George L. Lowrance, will confine himself to his own state, with an occa-

COTOLENE is MADE TO EAT

It is a vegetable product, made from clarified cotton seed oil—as bright, pure and golden as the Southern sun-shine in which it grew.

From this clean and appetizing source comes the new food-product, Cottolene, which is fast revolutionizing the art of cooking, and with which, in healthfulness, flavor, adaptability and economy, no other shortening or cooking fat can compare.

IMITATIONS are MADE TO SELL

To sell on the merits of the genuine. To sell by substitution; or by deception. To sell to the injury of the genuine, to the dissatisfaction of the consumer, to the detriment of the dealer, to the loss of all concerned.

If you wish the best food and the best health, you should insist that your cooking be done with genuine Cottolene. Refuse all counterfeits. Sold in 3 and 5 pound pails.

isolated excursion into the adjoining states. Hill will have his hands full saving New York for the Democracy. He will be greatly aided in this by the factional fights in the Republican party of New York. Blackburn will confine himself to the blue grass state of Kentucky, the only state of his state of his state, Congressmen Wilson's district in West Virginia will be the theater of a more aggressive campaign in the coming election. The Republicans will do all in their power to defeat the Democrats and the Democratic congressional committee intends bringing special efforts to defeat their purpose. The Republicans will mobilize their heaviest troops to speakmen and men of national reputation for this purpose in order to set up the claim, even Mr. Wilson's own people have repudiated his views.

The approaching campaign there is compared with that in the McKinley district immediately after the adoption of the bill, when the Democrats gave their strongest efforts to defeat him and succeeded. There is a slight difference expressed, however, in the ability of the state and congressional committee to secure Mr. Wilson's election to the house and while the district has always been a strong one, it is believed that Wilson is stronger if it is ever so slightly. All of the prominent men who took part in the great tariff debate in the house have volunteered to relieve Mr. Wilson of much of the canvass as he desires. Speaker Crisp, Vice President Stevenson, Borden, McMillin, Montgomery and Campbell are all to speak in behalf of the chairman of their party and men and committees. There are few leading men offering their services to New York. This is due to the antagonistic policy pursued by Hill towards his Democratic friends during the past decade.

During these days everybody talks politics and guesses and bets are being made on the result of the next national convention. Viewing the field from this point of view, the Republicans have four favorites and each of these partisans wager small amounts that they can name the next presidential candidate of their party. The four favorites are Harrison, Reed, McKinley, and Don Cameron. Of course the Southerners Republicans are united on Cameron, who is the favorite of all. Harrison is the favorite of the South, and the Populists are backing McKinley at heavy odds. The Democrats, too, are betting on Reed, a man of great ability, and the people will be taught kindergarten object lessons that not only is the silver being coined, but that the seigniorage is being paid in money form. The committee needs to do all it can to make big gains in the West—especially in Illinois—and that will be the chief point of attack. Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Holding its Annual Session at Chattanooga, Tenn., Today.

Treasurer Sheppard's Annual Report Shows a Healthy Condition of the Finances of the Order.

Grand Sire Campbell Recounts the Progress of the Order and Compliments the Members.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 17.—At the sovereign grand lodge meeting of the independent Order of Odd Fellows, the report of Sovereign Grand Treasurer Isaac A. Sheppard was as follows, for the fiscal year ending Aug. 20, 1894: Receipts—cash balance as per last report, $34,076.72. Sundries receipts during the year, $7,145.21. Total cash received, $108,534.03. Expenditures during the year, $75,328.68. Balance in hands of treasurer, $32,251.25. Assets: The available assets of the sovereign grand lodge at this date are as follows: Cash balance in treasury, $33,251.25; Leigh Valley Railroad Company, $10,000; P. W. & B. Railroad company, 4 per cent. bonds, $15,000; total, $62,251.25. The total available assets as per report of Aug. 19, 1893, were $70,076.72, showing a loss in assets of $15,824.72.

The annual address of the Sovereign Grand Master, Isaac A. Sheppard, and Officers and representatives: Once more it is my privilege to welcome to the annual session of the grand lodge.

When you met in Atlanta twenty years ago the jurisdiction forming the territory of the state of Georgia was but a small portion of the southern states, contained less than 6000 Odd Fellows. Today the brotherhood in the same section approximates 70,000, a net increase during the year under the supervision of John H. Stearer, Second Engineer, and John H. Stearer, Third Engineer. W. H. WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Mill Supply Man Says There Will Be Several New Saw Mills Built Here Soon.

Towne Marching Club Organized on Saturday Evening and Drill Will Be Begun at Once.

P. R. McDonnell has Secured a Good Contract at Reedsburg, Wis.—Yesterday's Game of Ball.

"There will be great activity in saw-mill building in West Duluth this winter," remarked a mill supply man this morning. "I know of four mills that will undoubtedly be added to the lumbering interests at this point within a few months. Why there are a half a dozen manufacturers of milling supplies to be here this week to figure on different contracts. The Holston company will close a deal this week with a Minneapolis firm to build a sawmill in conjunction with the planing mill which it has lately fitted up at the old furniture factory.

Captured a Good Contract.

A telegram was today received by N. Sicks from P. R. McDonnell, the contractor, that the firm had secured a contract for putting in a complete system for electric light and water supply at Reedsburg, Wis. The contract will amount to about $50,000. The Great Western Electric company will furnish the electric supplies.

Marching Club Formed.

A Republican marching club was organized on Saturday evening at the armory, with the following officers: R. A. Peterson, president; S. W. Williamson, secretary, and J. R. Bradley, treasurer. The following were named to drill the company: L. A. Barnes, captain; Nelson Sickles, first lieutenant; A. Schell, second; Robert Crawford, first sergeant. The club will be named the Towne Marching club. Another meeting will be held on Tuesday.

West Duluth Won.

The members of the West Duluth ball club felt highly elated over the game played at the Great Western grounds yesterday afternoon. The score stood 14 to 17 in favor of the West Duluth.

Held with a Mallet.

Miss Clara Dahl met with an accident yesterday afternoon which necessitated the calling of a physician and the sewing up of a flesh wound over her eye. She was playing croquet with a party when she accidentally hit a mallet, which was accidentally hit and so stunned her that she was picked up for dead. The injury was not serious, however, although it was a narrow escape.

Must be Capable.

The Populists in their recent congressional convention at St. Cloud have fallen into the fatal error of putting a certain candidate in the field in order to catch the votes of a certain class of foreign born citizens. That kind of bait might have been a good one with the voters of fifteen or twenty years ago; but today it is not only a mistake, but the voters will resent it as soon as it will react as a rook on the party attempting it.

The Minnesota voter, be he of American or foreign birth, is in the race for office, simply an American striving to represent an American constituency, and it of foreign birth, his native home.
Whether it be in that great dual kingdom in the Northland, behind the white cliffs of Britannia's shores, in the belle France, in the realm of the Kaiser, is forgotten and he as a suffragist is simply exercising the proud privilege of being an American voter.

Minnesota is general and this congressional district in particular have had one taste of the statescraft caliber of Kittel Halvorsen, the Populist nominee for congress, and they don't want to repeat the dose. The man's honesty is unimpeachable, but the Sixth district demands some executive ability in its representative in congress, and Kittel Halvorsen has no ability of any description.
A careful perusal of the records of the house fails to reveal a single measure introduced by him during his term of office.
He voted "aye" and "no," and on one or two occasions was so impressed with his district's needs that he rose to the sublime effort of seconding some measure, but he never attained a greater prominence.

The Herald is disposed to give the Populist leaders the credit for having some brains but they surely cannot have put Halvorsen forward on his record as a statesman, hence it must be a Norwegian that he has been trotted out and groomed for the congressional contest.
The Norwegian and Swede voters in this district, as in the whole state of Minnesota, are among the best-informed class of citizens and cannot be made to give their support to anyone because he happens to be born in Norway or Sweden.
They know what the district needs and the person who is capable of putting those needs before the national body is the one who will receive their support, and the place of birth will cut no figure
in making up their minds.

In this connection it will not be out of place to remind all voters that Maj.
Baldwin's work as congressman has not been acceptable to the people of his district. The course for the voter is, therefore, plain. The Populists and Democratic candidates have been "tried in the balance and found wanting," hence their plain duty is to cast their votes for Charles A. Towne, who has no failures hanging like a millstone about his neck.

The Coming Fair.

The St. Louis county fair will be held ten days hence and will last three days.
The assurance is given that it will surpass every respect every previous attempt of the kind made in this county.
The committees which were appointed to take charge of the various departments have gone at their work in an energetic manner and they report the most satisfactory results. The universal interest taken in the fair is most encouraging.
All the merchants seem anxious to aid it,
and the farmers throughout the county are preparing to make an exhibit that will open the eyes of the people who do not know what rich farming land is contained in St. Louis county.

Those who visited the fair held several years ago in the old skating rink that stood on the corner of First street and Third avenue west will remember the fine display of vegetables and fruit raised even in those early days. They were surprised at the showing, but they may prepare themselves for a still greater surprise this year. In the live stock department, it is expected there will be a large exhibit, and in all the departments will be found much worth seeing.

St. Louis county is not all rock and iron ore. While its mineral resources place it among the wealthiest counties in Minnesota, it also has agricultural resources of no mean magnitude, as the coming fair will exhibit to the world, and President A. R. Macfarlane is as full of enthusiasm over the approaching agricultural exhibit of the county as he is on the financial situation and the success which will undoubtedly attend the fair will be largely due to his persistent and untiring efforts.

The appearance of Messrs. Brodie and Corbett as "actors" reminds the Boston public that the present condition of the stage is but a repetition of history, and that the world does not change much.
Dr. Doran, in his "History of the English Stage," speaks thus of the end of the seventeenth century: "The century closed ill for the stage. Congress's play, 'The Way of the World,' failed to give it any lustre. Dancers, tumblers, strong men and quadrupeds were called in to attract the town; and the elephant
at the Great Mogul, in Fleet street, drew to such an extent that he would have been brought on the stage but for the opinion of a master carpenter that he would pull the house down." And it is set down that the treasures at both Covent Garden and Drury Lane were well nigh empty, owing to the rage of the town for curiosities.

In view of the announcement that three plate factories are to be established near Pittsburgh, although the new tariff has cut down the duty on the plate, an explanation would seem to be in order from Governor McKinley.

The Gould brothers paid $25,000 for the Vigilant, but she has cost them many times that sum since they took her across the Atlantic.

Some of these days will be brighter;
Some of these days will be darker; but Hearts will be happier, souls will be wiser.
Some of these days,

Some of these days in the deserts springing from the earth, while the joy bells are ringing.

And the world with the sweetest of birds shall go singing.

Some of these days,

Some of these days,

Some of these days, let us bear with our sorrows.

Find in the future, its light we may borrow;

There will be joy in the golden tomorrow.

Some of these days,

POLITICAL PICK-UPS.

Expressions About the Candidates Gleaned from Exchanges.

Two Harbors Iron News: The Pop

delegation from St. Louis county to St.

Cloud evidently blew out its cork while en route, as it lacked wiz.

Wadena County Journal: At the Democratic congressional convention at St. Paul, Senator Culver of a little story. A Democrat in Illinois was telling what his party would do if it could run the government. The convention, though harmonious, was not very enthusiastic,
and the prospects for victory are not very flattering, and it is just as well to wait until after the election to ensue.

Wadena County Pioneer: Two years ago Maj. Baldwin was elected to congress in this district by 376 plurality.

This year he will be defeated by ten times that number. The reason for this is that the people want "another change."

Red River Valley News: Kittel Halvorsen again for congress—in the Sixth.

His people sprang a trap and Capt.

Stout was taken.

Minneapolis Tribune: The Pioneer Press accuses the Sixth district Populists of robbing the political graveyard in digging up Kittel Halvorsen. This is a heretic, but the ghost will not walk long.
He is heavily laid to rest again in November.

The fourth annual fair of the Carlton County Agricultural and Industrial Association opens at Barnum tomorrow and continues for three days. The Carlton county people always have an exhibit which is a credit to themselves and an honor to the state and this year it promises to be better than ever.

Another candidate is in the field for the position of clerk of the district court.
F. B. Spelman enters the lists as an independent candidate, and will prove a much stronger applicant than independent candidates generally are. He has a host of friends and is well known all through the country.

ROBBERS BALKED

Unsuccessful Attempt of Train Robbers to Plunder a Santa Fe Train at Gorin, Missouri.

Engineer Dad Prescott Receives a Bad Breast Wound but Will Recover—Only Trainman Hurt.

Road Officials Were Prepared for the Attempt and Gave the Robbers a Warm Reception.

A Posse in Pursuit of the Miscreants with a Strong Probability of Their Capture.

GORIN, Mo., Sept. 18.—The Colorado & Utah express on the Santa Fe was held up by robbers at 3:30 a. m. today. Owing to the fact that the railroad and express officials had a spy on the train the bandits when they stopped the train met a hail of buckshot and bullets, and it is said that at least two died in the surrounding woods, while as many others are making for their rendezvous, 21 miles away, filled with leaden pellets. They were novices in the art of train robbery, and brutal ones at that. They shot Prescott, the engineer, before they gave up their chance to hold him. His wound will not prove fatal. The raid was planned three weeks ago, but not put into execution until this morning.

When the train left Chicago last evening and express detectives, all walking arsenals, climbed on at every station. Chief Detective J. J. Kenney of the Santa Fe, with G. C. Montgomery, his right hand man, boarded it at Joliet. At Streator they were joined by two more, who had been sent from the line. It is said that J. A. Matthews, who has been acting the spy for the Kansas road, put in an appearance at Galesburg. He brought news that the would-be robbers met early in the day at a bridge over the Illinois River near Memphis at 8:30 o'clock last night and made their third attempt to get rich at the expense of the express company. They expected to make a haul of at least $50,000, the Monday run being always much heavier than any other day of the week.

When the train reached Fort Madison, Iowa, shortly after midnight, Division Superintendent Stockton of the Wells-Fargo Express company, got on the train to the rescue. He located a schoolhouse with a history. It belonged to Bill Dalton, and it was to poetic justice to turn it loose upon followers in the footsteps of the Kansas desperado. With him were four men. Their guns were in the car and had been for several days.

Then a council of war was held. The plan adopted was this: Detectives Kenney and Montgomery boarded the engine. Superintendent Stockton and two of his good shots took the express car. The remaining car that the robbers were in was held up by Matthews, who was in the forward car of the smoking car that the forces were massed. A partition door includes half a dozen seats and shuts off the rest of the car from it. A dozen men were planted here. Each one had an express gun. The robbers were in two dozen buckshot by Superintendent Stockton. There was only one passenger in that compartment, and he was requested to take a seat in the chair car, "they were going to shoot him," said the sheriff. Sheriff Salting of Scotland county, climbed on board, all details of the surprise party were arranged.

There was one man, however, who had to be looked out for and protected. He was a spy, and he was to be brought to justice. Matthews, the spy who would endeavor to be the one who flagged the train. If so, one torpedo would precede the swinging of the lantern. If another there would be a couple of the things. The robbers were in the rear of every one of the guilty ones got away there was to be no shooting to endanger the life of the man who had, in fact, taken his life into his hands in order to frustrate the attempt at robbery. And so it was. In the forward car the expected silence settled down on the train. Full man car conductors and porters sought places of safety and even the trainmen did not expose themselves unnecessarily. In the little compartment filled with armed men the light from the windows were out. In each seat were two men sitting sideways, the mouths of their guns protruding just a trifle over the sill. Behind them stood others, seemingly status, with their inches apart. They were waiting for the torpedo. Out from between two embankments just a mile from Gorin sped the train. One minute more and the anxious watchers could know whether they had again lured in their prey. The train came, the crack of the looked and longed-for signal. There was but one. A moment and a shrill, sharp whistle gave token that the engineer had heard, and almost before his hand left the valve, across the track, a mile away, shot a red light. A grinding of wheels along the rails told the air had been applied, and within twenty seconds from the explosion of the torpedo the train was at a standstill. Out from the side of the track north of the track came four forms. The face of each was hidden by a black mask. One, more agile than the rest, rushed to the engine almost before his companion could reach the express car. He carried a rifle, and when he got to the door of the engine, he pulled the trigger. His aim was true, and he fired to the floor of his car, a bullet in his right breast. One bound Kenney gained the top of the tender, and bringing his gun to his shoulder, sent a shower of shot almost in the face of the masked individual.

Heavy Rain in Atlanta.
ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 18.—A heavy rain storm broke over Atlanta at 5 o'clock last night, and continued throughout the night. Mrs. A. D. Tye was out driving and attempted to cross a swollen stream on the outskirts of the city. Her horse and cart were swept by the stream and she was carried away with them. Her coachman drove on and was able to get her out of the water, but the team had been found. It is supposed that she has been drowned. The streets of the city are flooded. The rainfall has been so great that the parade and corner stores laying in the Cotton States and International Exposition set for today have been postponed.

AN UNWILLING QUEEN

Romantic Elevation of a Semi-English Girl to a Rulership in the South Pacific Islands.

Called from a Convent to Govern the Tropical Barbarians of the Manua Group.

Kept in Strict Seclusion But Treated with Servile Homage—She Wants to Be Rescued.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—The bark Helen N. Almy, just returned from a trading voyage among the islands of the South Pacific, half English and half native, who rules over the Manua group, against her wishes, though her subjects worship her much after the fashion that the Coroans worship their king, as the Peruvians humbled themselves before the virgins of the sun. History repeats itself in the biography of Margaret Young, the English name of the prisoner princess, for the story of Francis Young, a sailor who landed on the islands of Tau nearly 20 years ago, is recalled. This man made a Taoist of the city. He was queen of the group. His son by her wedded a half-breed maiden. Margaret Young is the daughter of that son. Through the death of all the heirs apparent to the throne of the Manuas, Miss Young suddenly called upon to assume the power of omniscient ruler of islands. This news was conveyed to her at Apia some months ago by a delegation of chiefs from Manua and she was forced by the laws of heredity obtaining in the southern archipelago to assume the title and to rule, where she was immediately installed as queen.

Great interest is lent to the case of the girl who is but 22 years of age, by the report that she is highly educated and was at the time of her sudden call from Apia, studying at a Catholic convent. Capt. Helen N. Almy, and her wife, who accompanied him on his last trip, were the first white people permitted to interview the queen and obtained from her majesty the story that she was received in spite of the professional opposition shown by her native subjects.

She is a ruler who is compelled to maintain an odious reserve, the sanctity of her dwelling being rigidly preserved by fierce warriors, who stand ready to decapitate the bold intruder who dares to enter the queen's sacred presence without being especially appointed by the spirit fires and summoned by a council of chiefs.

The grand chief of the group is the only man who is allowed to approach the queen, Capt. John F. McLean. "He attends to her wife, assisted by two maids, who never leave her side, except when they are called upon to do her bidding. Should any native desire to pay tribute to her in the shape of a fish, he must first offer his gift upon the end of a bamboo pole advanced in closed eyes and thrust the stick through the doorway of the palace. Queen Margaret as we will term her, is not allowed to walk outside her camp's limits. She must be carried on a litter by her maids, and when she ventures forth upon such a journey the subjects are ordered, under pain of death, to keep hidden in their respective houses."

The captive queen explained, to Capt. McLean, that she desired to be freed, but had never dared to do so in the fear of holding her prisoner. She explained that her subjects were kind-hearted and meant to cause her no unhappiness, but that they religiously followed the customs of their ancestors in acting as they do toward her.

Commander Bridgeman's Funeral.
TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 18.—With fitting honors the funeral services of the late Capt. William R. Bridgeman, U. S. N., was held from St. Luke's Episcopal church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. No arrangements have yet been made for the final disposal of the remains and for the present they will remain in repose in a vault.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative, which is embraced in the remedy of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

WAS A CRUSHING DEFEAT.

All the Effective Chinese Staff Officers Were Captured or Wounded.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A dispatch received here from Ping Yang, Corea, dated yesterday, says that every hour adds to the crushing character of the Chinese defeat. It is added that the first estimates are slightly under the actual facts and that the Chinese losses during the two days' battle is now said to be over 17,000 men killed, wounded and prisoners. The Chinese prisoners who were wounded were paraded yesterday in a circle of Japanese troops and it was seen that they numbered 14,500. It is probable, however, that the number will be increased with the next few days by the prisoners who are being constantly brought in by the Japanese cavalry. Many of the Chinese captured were found hiding in the quiet corners of the city, and Gen. Gen. Fank Wei, commander-in-chief of the Manchurian army, who fought desperately to the last and only surrendered when he was badly wounded, the Japanese captured four other important commanders of Chinese forces, namely Gen. Tso Pao-ku, Gen. Wei Ink Wei, Gen. Naou Kien and Gen. Sei Kin Liu, practically all the men of a strong mob, but, it is said, the government of its own and is composed and a Liberian negro has rights which are respected in this country, where the rights of an American-born negro are trampled upon.

FULLY CIVILIZED NATION.

New Treaties Which Will Give Her That Standing in the World.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The new treatment which Japan is negotiating with the great powers, including the United States, are regarded in diplomatic circles as an event in international affairs quite as important as the Chinese-Japan war, as the treaties will for the first time give official recognition to Japan as a member of the sisterhood of civilized nations. The terms of the treaty with Great Britain have just been signed. A similar treaty is negotiated with this country and it is expected to be the second of the new treaties to be signed. Then will come a like treaty with Germany and other powers.

Market for American Furniture.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Consul E. W. Stingle, of Brunswick, Germany, has sent to the state department a general report upon the field presented by the market of American furniture to Germany. He expresses the opinion that the Germans are very unsatisfied in the manufacture of furniture, despite the fact that they are in general eminently practical, and excel in forms of handcraft. Two reasons exist for this deficiency, the want of wood in Germany and the fact that the Germans have not accustomed themselves as many articles of furniture as are used in America.

Youthful Burglars.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 18.—A band of five youthful burglars and safe robbers have been arrested at Lamar, Mo., for breaking into the store of the Dore Fruit company here last Saturday night and cracking the safe, from which over $500 in cash was taken. Their ages range from 9 up to 15. All are negroes. They implicate a number of other boys.

President's Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The following recess appointments were announced at the White House today: Richard P. Doolan, assistant appraiser of merchandise of San Francisco; John H. Weller, supervisor inspection steam vessels, Eighth district; Postmasters: Abram S. Strauss, Long Prairie, Minn.

Carnival's Downfall.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Caroline E. Loring, to Beloit to a Milwaukee family, was arrested on the charge of forgery. It is claimed that she has swindled several business houses out of small amounts.

Alfred Ward's Interviewed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 18.—Governor Alfred arrived last evening. He said he feels well and is well, and that the press dispatches from New York about his sickness are pure fakes and says he was not interviewed.

Another Balmaceda Plot.

VALPARAISO, Sept. 18.—A fresh plot in which followers of the late Gen. Balmaceda are the ringleaders has been discovered. Twenty persons have been arrested charged with being implicated in the conspiracy.

Knocked Out by Barleycorn.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 18.—Arthur Mullins, 33 years of age, who was lately awarded a heavyweight championship, died at the home of his friends at Fort Hamilton today.

Black Ink.

Are the pretences which some people cherish as to the goodness of their cause, their reason, as our friend Artemas Ward says, thusly: "So and so has been taking medicine for long time and isn't any better." They only know of individual cases. Many could be cited, to prove that the medical profession, as the successor of antiquity, and now of science, has not found anywhere else, bodily troubles caused by liver, stomach and bowels, in instances where rheumatic tendencies are experienced, and when the kidneys are weak, it is the true resort.

Irving W. Larimore, physical director of Y. M. C. A., Des Moines, Iowa, says he can conscientiously recommend Chamomile, Pansy, Peppermint, mint, gentian, balsam, bitters, rootball, etc., as the general prescription for burns, sprains, and dislocations; also for soreness and stiffness of the muscles. When applied before the parts become swollen, it will effect a cure in one-half the time usually required. For sale by all druggists.

A NAVAL BATTALION

Formation of Naval Militia Encouraged by the National Government at All Important Water Coast Ports.

Naval Militia Battalions Now Exist on the Great Lakes in Illinois and Michigan.

Uncle Samuel Wishes to See One Formed at Duluth—Necessary Steps to Be Taken.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—[Special to the Herald.] The officials of the navy department are doing everything possible with the limited means at their command to encourage the formation of battalions of naval militia in various ports of the country. Of course, in states where there is absolutely no water front such organizations are out of the question at the present time. Vermont, however, with a small water front has one of the best battalions on the Atlantic coast. The great drawback to forming such organizations has been the difficulty in securing the use of vessels and supplies for the use of the militia in case of war.

State Grain Inspector A. C. Clausen, of Minnesota, has issued the following:

"On and after Monday, Sept. 24, 1894, the state grain inspection department will discontinue the work of inspection or re-inspection of grain at the Freeman, Russell and Minoka mills at West Superior, in the yards immediately adjacent to said mills."

"All grain consigned to said mills must be held for inspection or re-inspection in the regular terminal yards at West Superior, belonging to the respective railroad companies, and the railroads the said shipments originate, and all questions of grades and dockage will be determined, as far as the work of this department is concerned, before the grain leaves the said regular terminal rail yards."

LA VAQUE IN THE FIELD. Present County Auditor Announces Himself as an Independent Candidate.

I hereby announce myself as an independent candidate for the office of auditor of St. Louis county. I present my name as a candidate for county auditor of the Second district of St. Louis county, at the election Nov. 6, 1894, asking the votes of all who think me worthy of same. I am yours truly,

GEORGE N. LA VAQUE.

Announcement.

At the request of many voters of the Second district of St. Louis county, who think that I have tried to do my duty as county commissioner, I present my name as a candidate for county auditor of the Second district of St. Louis county, at the election Nov. 6, 1894, asking the votes of all who think me worthy of same. I am yours truly,

C. Poirier.

To the Voters of St. Louis County, Minn. I announce myself as an independent candidate for the position of "clerk of the district court" and ask the support of the voters of this county at the November election. Frederick B. Spelman.

ADOPTED THE REPORT

Chamber of Commerce Approved of the Water Works Committee's Recommendation with But Little Opposition.

Price Asked Was Agreed to Be Large But by Avoiding Delay Much Could Be Gained.

Amendments Extending a Proposition to the Company Were Offered But Did Not Find Favor.

At the adjourned meeting of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon, by a vote which was nearly unanimous, it was decided to adopt the report of the committee on the water works proposition favoring its acceptance. There were but two dissenting votes.

The general sense of the meeting seemed to be that while the price asked is larger than might have been placed on the plants, it is a better policy to accept than to delay matters by haggling.

The report was not adopted without a lengthy and thorough discussion. The meeting was well attended and the attendance was a representative one. After reading of the report as submitted by L. M. Wilcutt moved its adoption.

G. A. Leland did not wish to hamper the council with a recommendation as to the price, and he moved to amend the report so as to leave it to the discretion of the chamber. The motion was lost. H. W. Phelps moved to amend by making the price not to exceed $500,000. This was no second to this motion.

G. A. Leland objected to the latter part of the report in which it was recommended that the council authorize the city attorney to procure additional counsel to decide the legal phases of the question. He thought it was a reflection on the city attorney, and that it was none of his business. Mr. H. W. Phelps thought so too. Mr. H. W. Phelps said that the committee had no thought of such a thing, and had only done it as it thought the city attorney would desire. On Mr. Wilcutt's motion that the report be voted down, Mr. H. W. Hartman then moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. Phelps spoke against its adoption. "I said Saturday and I say now," he said, "that the city should own its waterworks, but at the same time I do not want to interfere with your business. We should have more information in regard to its value. It seems to be generally conceded here that the price asked is beyond the value and beyond the cost of the plant. We should carefully consider how we run the plant." For $350,000 it is more we are paying twice as much per mile as it cost to build the Mississippi road from the docks to the top of the hill.

"The West Duluth plant has been planned by a engineer at $600,000 a mile. We are paying nearer $500,000 a mile. I am in favor of giving the owners of the plant a bonus, but I don't believe in giving them $1,000,000."

Mr. Sherwood answered that the cost of rock difference in Duluth would make the remainder to be paid in West Duluth. "We must get rid of the necessity of feeding our plant searage. Presently we have a few more rollers than is want is worth is that the water is lost from the typhoid germs with which the water is impregnated. We must have as much water against the gas and water coming as I, though I could not get a paper to open its mouth, had to pay for my utterances as advertising matter?" Mr. Noyes thought he had and the twin went out.

The death William George Buck, aged 2 months, West Duluth, of inanition, has been reported to the board of health.

Births as follows have been reported to the board of health: Edward and Stein Oaks, West Duluth, a son; James and Katie Connally, West Duluth, a daughter.

The Rice's Point assembly, Knights of Labor No. 1114 will give a grand ball at Central Hall, Twelfth avenue west and Superior street, Friday evening, Sept. 21.

The little infant born to Mr. and Mrs. George C. McKeyle, at Duluth the Maternity hospital on Sunday, Sept. 2, 1894, has been christened Paul James Duluth Crocker.

The flour output for last week was 97,385 barrels. Shipments were 98,441 barrels and the stocks at the close of the week amounted to 61,950 barrels.

John F. Keyes and Miss Ette M. Giese were married at Madison, Wis., on Sept. 12, 1894.

Marriage licenses have been issued to W. H. Denby and Florence Dingwall and to George Littleton and Lottie Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Grousel, of 401 East Fourth street, are the happy parents of a little daughter, which arrived this afternoon for argument. Following is the offer:

"Defendant offers in evidence the admission that C. W. Wetmore, Herbert L. Satterlee, C. E. Scheide, J. S. Purcell, F. P. C. and A. Lemoine would, if brought into court testify to the following matters:

"That 5,6663% shares of the road's capital stock of the amount sold to Wetmore under the contract of Dec. 21, 1892, were on or about Feb. 7, 1893, received by him from the Exchange bank to be delivered to Wetmore pro rata as he should make his payments under the contract.

"That the bonds referred to in the Wetmore contract were in the summer of 1893 duly issued by the Central Trust Company, of Duluth, and, and defendant is indebted to them in the amount of $15,000 and is indebted to plaintiff and C. W. Wetmore as vice president of the road; that also in July, 1893, plaintiff remitted Wetmore to take for his personal uses all or 3000 bonds without paying the balance due on the contract.

"That the plaintiff is not in the time of delivery of the bonds indebted to defendant thereon more than $15,000 and still is indebted thereon more than $40,000, which is wholly lost by the insolvency of Wetmore;

"That the plaintiff was not to draw any of his services as vice president of the road."

Leonidas Merritt was called by the defense for cross examination, and admitted that he had instituted similar suits against the Rock Mountain and Mississ. Mountain Iron companies. The defense then rested except as to the proposed offer before stated, which were to be taken up this afternoon.

There will probably be some brief testimony in rebuttal after which will come the argument before the jury. The case will probably be given to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

De Vere Not Guilty.

Yesterday afternoon the jury in the De Vere case found him not guilty. There is another indictment for indecent assault upon Amanda Lightfoot. In the case De Vere has been released on $500 bond.

Harvey Hooker withdrew his plea of not guilty of grand larceny and pleaded guilty of petit larceny. Morris Foley took the same course.

OHIO DEMOCRATS

Chairman Frank Hurd's Address to the State Convention Delivered at Columbus This Morning.

Free Wool, in His Opinion, is Destined to be a Great Educator in Tariff Matters.

Scores McKinley and the A. P. A. and Extols Grover Cleveland and John G. Carlisle.

Extracts from the Platform on Which Ohio Democrats Will Stand During This Campaign.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 19.—The Democratic state convention met at 10 a. m. today with Hon. Frank Hurd, of Toledo, as temporary chairman. In sounding the keynote of Ohio Democrats, Mr. Hurd said:

"My fellow Democrats, I congratulate you upon assembling in state convention in the first flushes of the dawn of a new day of prosperity to the United States. Through red seas the business men of this country have passed, until hope began to fail and despair had seized the managers of nearly every enterprise in the land. For more than twenty years tariff reform had seemed to them such a condition must inevitably result from protection. Restriction of the market resulted in over production of domestic goods. Nor for this condition was the Democratic party in any respect responsible. Whether it comes through reforms must be changed against the wrongs which make reforms necessary and not against the reforms themselves."

The stimulated business revival has come partly because the elements of uncertainty as to what the tariff rates would be has been removed. The new law is not likely to be modified for some time by a general revision. But chiefly this result has been produced because the new law is cheaper in the expense of living. It proclaims the door of protection in the United States. The new law may not have gone as far as many, but it goes a long way in the redemptive Democratic pledges and reforming our tariff system. It rests on an average, the rates of the McKinley platform, 30 per cent. But the chief merit is said, was to be found in the free list. The people will be saved nearly $15,000,000 per year. The addition of wool to the free list is the most important and most important statutes enacted since the war. Free wool is destined to be the great educator of the people on the tariff question, very soon will demand other articles of foreign trade, so far as is practicable, shall be brought in free.

Coming to the division in the party on the tariff question, Mr. Hurd said: First and foremost, I give credit to Grover Cleveland and John G. Carlisle. Free wool is the most important article in the all other provisions of the law put together. To their credit, he said, the Ohio Democratic members in the house stood firm, every one voting for free wool. When by one word he could have defeated free wool, more credit is due Senator Brice than to any other influence, or to all other influences combined. Mr. Hurd concluded harmony and further efforts to agree. The different schedules will be further simplified in the interest of free trade. The Chicago platform declares that protection is unconstitutional and robbery. If that declaration be true, our mission cannot be ended while a protective statute remains.

Mr. Hurd closed by saying he was opposed to the American Protective association because it was a secret political society, such societies, organized on religious lines, are unconstitutional organizations of both the predominant in both of the United States and of this state. The A. P. A., gave Governor McKinley his majority of 82,000 and the large Republican majority in Maine. We must make it plain that no man can be a Democrat and an A. P. A.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Denounces McKinley's Administration and Praises that of Grover's.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 19.—The platform praises the "efficient, economical and sound administration" of President Cleveland's "protection" a fixed and while recognizing the benefit of the reduction of duties on imports, just made by congress, favors a further reduction as can be made, to the end that purely protective duties be abolished," declares that the McKinley law can not be expected to reduce the revenue and led to the necessity for issuing more government bonds; business failures, strikes, low wages, low prices for farm products are enumerated as the result of the McKinley law, to the next revenue.

"We dissent" says one plank, "from the president's views, construction and treatment of the silver question, and therefore, believe that silver should be retained in the United States as it occupied as money prior to its demonetization by the Republican party, and to that end we favor the unlimited coinage of silver at the legal ratio of 16 to 1 and with equal legal tender power. The platform declares that the assembly of Ohio, Governor McKinley's administration and the American Protective association." It favors liberal pensions, a "corrupt" practice law, limiting the amount of money to be expended by candidates, and a law prohibiting free passes on railroads.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19.—Lieut. D. F.

Anglum, of the United States barracks, was fined $5 today in the police court for slapping Attorney W. C. Bates who, as alleged by Anglum, while defending a soldier charged with larceny at Anglum's quarters, "made infamous remarks" regarding the lieutenant to the court martial, in the absence of Anglum.

CORN CROP SHORTAGE.
Only a Two-Thirds Crop Indicated in Special Reports.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The World this morning published a detailed statement from hundreds of Western towns, showing a heavy shortage in the corn crop.

The World says: "The biggest crop raised by any country in the world that raises it." The United States is the country that raises it. The United States produces 2,000,000,000 bushels of this staple and has produced more. At the average market price these 2,000,000,000 bushels cost $100,000,000 or about ten times as much as the gold production of the whole world for a year. A severe drought has greatly reduced the yield. Just how much is what many people would be very glad to know and the world is therefore prints today reports from nearly 200 correspondents scattered throughout the corn region. These reports cover the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Montana. The two states west of the great corn belt of the United States and in average years produce about 75 per cent of the corn crop. The government reports makes the yield this year 1,100,000,000 bushels, but most all of the corn reports indicate about two-thirds of an average crop or in the neighborhood of 1,300,000,000 bushels. The greatest reduction has been in the states west of the Mississippi, where loss is estimated at 50,000,000 bushels in a good year, reducing the total to about 42,000,000 bushels. But the states east of the Mississippi river, where there is a more certain quantity, pull up the average.

LONG DISTANCE SIGNALING.

A Transient Flash Sent Nearly Two Hundred Miles.

DENVER, Sept. 19.—All records for long distance heliograph signaling have been broken by the United States army signal corps, a message having been sent by heliograph 10 miles.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 19.—The citizens of Minneapolis, through the relief committee, yesterday tendered to James Root, the St. Paul & Duluth engineer, a fitting testimonial as a reward for his heroism. The story of his conduct during the recent fire that raged through the northwest portion of the state has been partially told. The whole, however, will never be able to describe the horrors of a wild ride through a perfect cyclone of flame, fire, the resolute determination of the engineer to save his train, through what seemed to be inevitable death to a place of safety, can never, by the greatest stretch of imagination, be given to the world as inspiration will ever be to the subjects.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, several of the foremost citizens in the state met in the rooms of the Jobbers' and Manufacturers' Association. They had been summoned there to meet a hero, whom Minneapolis prided to acknowledge as her own, James Root. Mr. Root was present were Hon. W. D. Washburn, Mayor Eustis, Rev. Wayland Hoyt, Charles A. Pillsbury, Mr. Root's son, Paul D. Pillsbury, etc. When everybody had been introduced, George Washburn called the meeting to order and in a very pretty speech made known the reason for the meeting. A beautiful cover, with a handsome leather cover, containing a copy of the deed of Mr. Root and enlarging the inscription that moved the man to such heroic measures, was then presented to Mr. Root. The document was signed by the committee. Mr. Root accepted the gift with a show of keen appreciation. The man who asked to say a few words was Mr. Root. "You must know that I thank you and how I feel. I am no orator and beg that you will excuse me."

Mayor Eustis talked for a few minutes, and while he did, tears flowed down his cheeks. He then said, "I have the check which John I. Thompson, of Troy, N. Y., gave me for you, cashed, and I take pleasure in handing you this, another small tribute to your worth, in gold."

It is symbolic of fire, he said, and the robber refuses to take it. He has a small tribute to your worth, in gold."

Mr. Root replied: "I only did my duty, and one that any brotherhood locomotive engineer would have done, and I would ask that you accept the money as my subscription for the relief of the Hinckley fire."

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

WHEAT WEAKER TODAY.

Great Western Works Shut Down Today, the Men Quitting Because of Trouble in Getting Pay.

John Allyn, a Workman, Fell from the Grand Avenue Bridge Today, Injuring Himself Internally.

Junior Republicans Will Meet on Friday Evening and Form a Marching Club—Other News.

The old trouble appeared at the Great Western shops today and the works were shut down. The men claim that they still have the same difficulty in getting their wages as before, and promises in the place of money are not satisfactory. They also claim that the company has lately imported some new men from Chicago, with whom a contract has been made for regular pay, and that while these men receive full wages, the old hands are given but a small percentage of what is due them. Mr. Gilman was here a short time ago and promised, they say, to pay up yesterday, but failed to respond as per agreement.

Injured Internally.

John Allyn a workman on the Grand avenue bridge stepped on a weak plank this morning while broking, letting him fall a distance of six feet. He was taken to his home on Grand avenue and found to be injured internally. Dr. Hunton, his physician, thinks that the injury is not very serious and that he will recover. Had he not fallen upon a soft spot of ground he would probably have been killed.

Juniors Will March.

West Duluth has quite a number of enterprising young lads who don't propose to be left out of the fall campaign even if they are too young to vote. So will they organize a Junior Republican Marching club and a meeting for that purpose is arranged to be held next Friday evening at the armory. Some of the boys are members of the militia companies and all are bright, like young fellows who will take a great interest in the drill of the armory. The old club will have to look to its laurels or the juniors will carry off the marching honor of the campaign.

An Ungrateful Man.

John Sletton, one of the Hinckleyites whose family is living in one of the Sharp houses, was in jail this morning for disorderly conduct. The prisoner has been abusing his family and drinking hard, to the great distress of the society, which has been assisting the family since the fire. His wife wishes to leave him and the relief society is considering the question of sending her back to the old country, where she says she will receive protection for herself and children, if she can get the means of transportation.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Towne Marching club held another meeting this evening. The club is to secure uniforms and attend to other preliminary business. In connection with the club a drum corps will be organized. Another meeting will be held on Friday evening.

W. P. Rely has purchased the grocery stock of C. F. Burch and moved into the building formerly occupied by the Bell clothing house, where he has opened a fine grocery store.

Professor Ourat will open a dancing school in the Great Eastern ball on Monday evening, Oct. 1.

The members of the Minnesota National Guard association have received a circular stating that a meeting will be held at the capitol in St. Paul on Wednesday, Oct. 17.

The Presbyterian Sunday school will hold a service next Sunday. The church will be decorated with flowers and potted plants and a pleasing program of music and recitation will be presented.

POPULIST CAMPAIGN.

Committee Has Taken Headquarters and Will Begin the Campaign.

The Populists have opened campaign headquarters in the rooms under the Kitchi Gammie club, the same that were occupied by the Democrats two years ago. This year, in fact, the Democrats tried to make the same quarters again, but the Populists were successful in securing them.

This evening the Central club, which has heretofore met at 17 East Superior street, will be regular headquarters of the new headquarters. Several able speakers are planned for and a most interesting meeting in the new and convenient headquarters is in prospect.

The Populist county central committee is now in regular session, and so far as the very limited means of the Populists will permit, the campaign will from now on be continuously prosecuted.

The Populist speakers and leaders say that they intend to confine themselves to the issues of the day and that it will be an educational campaign in St. Louis county.

THE AX HAS FALLEN.

Two Postoffice Employees Let Out to Make Room for Democrats.

Yesterday Postmaster Helsinski notified Miss Alma Babb, of the money order department, and Charles J. Peterson, of the stamp window, that their resignations would be acceptable, the same to take effect at the close of the present month.

Miss Babb was appointed early in the reign of Postmaster Flynn and Peterson near the close of that administration. Mr. Peterson insisted that his resignation take effect at once. He has taken a position with the Omaha road and Hennepin Gas, who hold the same position for a time under Postmaster Flynn, will in the future, sell stamps and perform the other duties in the vicinity of that window.

Capt. Henry DeWitt and W. D. Hammons are the only possible successors to Miss Babb.

From the rasping sound heard in the alley back of the postoffice it is thought that the ax is being sharpened for further execution. If so it will not be long until the office is manned wholly by faithful Democrats.

LA VAQUE IN THE FIELD.

Present County Auditor Announces Himself as an Independent Candidate.

I hereby announce myself as an independent candidate for the office of auditor of St. Louis county, and should I be elected I pledge as faithful and as close attention to the affairs of the county as I have given them in the past.

Yours respectfully,
GEORGE N. LA VAQUE.

To the voters of St. Louis County, Minn. I announce myself as an independent candidate for the position of "clerk of the district court" and as the support of the voters of this county at the November election. Frederick B. Spelman.

TO TALK WATERWORKS

Alderman Will Consider the Proposition for the Sale of the Company's Plant This Evening.

Ordinance Calling a Special Election Will be Introduced and, it is Believed, Will Pass.

Alderman Goldsmith Will be One Who Will Vote Against It--Hard to Obtain Opinions.

Tonight the city council will meet and consider the water works proposition. An ordinance will doubtless be introduced calling for a special election on the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $2,000,000, and it will probably pass. There is a reluctance among some of the aldermen to give their opinions on the proposition. They think it best to leave it to the voters at a special election to decide whether or not the proposition is acceptable. This is to be a council election, and aldermen that they will probably be more willing to give their views. A few of the aldermen display a tendency to be silent on any subject prior to the holding of the caucus. A few of them were caught yesterday, and one of them said to me, "Here are their opinions:

Alderman Goldsmith--I am not in favor of a special election for the reason that it would cost too much and that the bonds would be voted down to 1. Too big a price is asked for the plant and the city is not in a position to take it. I would vote against the bonds.

Alderman Nelson--I am in favor of a special election, want to have the matter to the wishes of the people. I am not decided as to the fairness of the proposition. Alderman Belknap--I am in favor of a purchase by the city at the right price, whatever that may be. I don't pretend to say, myself, what is a fair price.

Alderman Harwood--I believe the water company is higher than I expected it would be. I favor a special election by all means. I understand that we cannot have the same situation at a regular election so a special vote would be necessary.

Alderman Getty--The price asked by the water company is higher than I expected it would be. I favor a special election by all means. I understand that we cannot have the same situation at a regular election so a special vote would be necessary.

Alderman building the new plant by the city instead of paying the price now asked, that would depend wholly on circumstances. Trouble, delay, extra expense and all that would influence me, however.

GETTING BABY TO SLEEP.

The Cradle Out of Date, But Cradle Songs Remain--Better Infant Food Brings Sounder Sleep, With Little Need of Rocking.

In the old New England cabin at the Midway pleasure, among the quaint bits of furniture, there was an old-fashioned cradle such as busy mothers used to push with their feet while they hummed a soft lullaby.

The cradle is out of date, but the tiny, lace-draped crib has taken its place. Cradle songs remain. No better ones have been written since mothers hushed their tired ones to sleep with "Rock-a-bye, Baby," and "Bye, Baby Bunting," but the art of infant feeding has gone far ahead of the old ways.

Mothers no longer give syrup to still babies' cries; little or no medicine is now given, but better food. Lactated food is given, every day, in every home. In the great majority of homes in this country and in Canada this best of infant foods has found a permanent place.

Next to healthy mother's milk it is the most perfect diet for infants.

Very often it is even superior to the natural breast milk, because it never becomes deficient in nutritive qualities.

MARY C. REYNOLDS.

cannot contain any source of contagion. It is perfectly prepared to please to the weak infant stomach. It quickly makes solid flesh and bone, and tides sickly babies over summer days and nights. It is the choicer infantant and doubtless the best of the lives of every poorly nourished child.

The greatest reproach to practical medicine has been the fearful loss of infant lives at every return of the hot weather. The author of the whole great work has been directed to this great subject of proper infant feeding, especially during hot weather.

Under the advice of the professor in the medical department of the Vermont Agricultural College, especially of Professor A. P. Griswold, dean of the college, and Dr. S. M. Roberts, professor of diseases of children, and under the investigation and direct supervision of Professor C. S. Boynton, the manufacturer of lactated food, the author has saved thousands of babies' lives and enabled thousands more to grow up strong and healthy and blessed with sturdy constitutions.

A host of mothers have to thank lactated food for the joy of seeing their strong, smart, healthy little ones turn to bright-eyed, charming babies, that eat and sleep and grow in a way to delight any mother's heart. Great numbers of such mothers have written that they would also agree with their children that lactated food is the best.

A trial of less than two weeks will tell its own story in baby's weight, eyes, cheeks and spirits. Nursing mothers find lactated food just adapted to their peculiar needs. It nourishes both mother and child. And it is the best food to be expected from a knowledge of its rich, blood-making ingredients, using pure milk sugar as a basis, because it is also the basis of mother's milk, there is added the richest gluten flour of wheat and corn. This is added to high steam heat under pressure, and while in constant motion and perfectly cooked, the extract of the finest malt barley is added, making thus a perfectly digested food that is easily assimilated by the feeble stomach.

Individuals and persons find lactated food the most grateful to their weak stomachs of any nutrient they can take.

Here is the experience of the sweet baby girl whose portrait is given above. Her mother, Mrs. E. E. Reynolds, of Fall River, Mass.

"Our little girl is a perfect picture of health, having used lactated food since she was two months old. She has always been perfectly well and we think it is largely due to the food."

THINGS HEARD AND SEEN.

M. J. Forbes Tells a Story to Apply Illustrate a Point.

When the recent fires destroyed the bridge over Kettle river, the Eastern Minnesota's entrance to Duluth was effectively blocked. Large shipments of wheat consigned to Duluth could not be delivered and much of it was taken to elevator B at Como. Some discussion took place on the best way to get it to what right the men had to make that disposition of wheat consigned to Duluth. M. J. Forbes was asked what he thought of it. He smiled slightly and said:

"It reminds me of something which came to my mind when I was a member of the old Duluth fire department. A big fire broke out in Old Superior and we were called on for assistance. We loaded our steamer to a scow and took it down there and did good work. Afterward we arose to find that a man had taken the scow out of the city and was leaving Duluth unprotected. It was insisted that we had no right to take it out of the city.

But notwithstanding these things, if the place was in a rather neat and some large number of the members of the bar would be compelled to their respective cases and influences, it would be difficult to keep party spirit entirely out of a bar meeting. Such a meeting would I fear also, be attended with a feeling of some restraint from the fact that one of the candidates is not a judge of the court, before whom the members of the bar are in their cases pending, and a discussion might place both the judge and the attorney in a somewhat restrained and delicate position.

THE ROAD REVOLTS.

Northern Pacific Does Not Approve of the Action of Some Commission Men.

The Northern Pacific road has addressed the following to the commission men of the head of the lakes:

"Daily complaints are reaching this company of delay in loading grain cars at Superior and it is standing that the good reputation of the head of the lakes for prompt handling of grain is becoming reason for delay, after careful investigation, is found to arise from the action of certain commission men in holding out for the second time a Superior grain originally consigned to West Superior grain originally consigned to West Superior and held for delivery. In the same way two markets are made for the same cars. The effect of this is to hinder the delivery of all grain going to the Superior. In putting the free switching rate on grain to West Superior, and grain to Superior and in the interest of all concerned we are compelled to insist that grain consigned to West Superior must be inspected at that point and final disposition made for it at that point. Any subsequent change in disposition, such as to Superior, will be charged for it at the rate of $1.50 per car."

"Another cause of delay is chargeable to the fact that the company is delivering grain consigned to Superior industries without previous inspection, and their cars coming into our Superior yards are going through the same process of inspection and hold out for inspection, marking as though they were being moved over the company road. This is inflicting on us a burden which was never anticipated when the low-terminal delivery charge was put into effect and one which we are now unable to carry without detriment to our general interest."

"The company facilities at the three cities are ample to accommodate a much greater volume of business than we are now called upon to take care of if we have your co-operation in our mutual interest in giving us prompt disposition of grain and final disposition furnished us before cars can be switched to destination."

We offer one hundred dollars reward for any one who can furnish us with Hall's case of the Northern Pacific railway, which was never anticipated when the low-terminal delivery charge was put into effect and one which we are now unable to carry without detriment to our general interest."

The board of trade men say that the road is justified in making the regulation and undoubtedly has suffered claims.

They claim the Superior commission men are responsible for nearly all of it.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Two Young Ladies Who Opened a Dress-making Establishment Taken to West Superior.

They Are Charged With Having Carried Off Mortgaged Property From the City Across the Bay.

Meeting of Saw Mill Men Who Will Build Here Expected to be Held Tomorrow.

The latest trick of West Superior people is to rob other towns of their population. At least West Duluth lost two young ladies yesterday by the intervention of the Superior officers. The ladies in question had fallen in love with the prospects on this side of the bay and had determined to make this place their future home. They had rented a suite of rooms in one of the brick blocks not far from the Manufacturers bank, paid a month's rent in advance, with the intention of getting out of the West. Duluth, but, owing to the agent who rented them the rooms was startled yesterday by the appearance of a detective who rudely took away the fair tenants to Wisconsin to answer to the charge of carrying off a mortgaged furniture. The girls were found this morning, having his fingers through his hair, wondering what kind of people he had agreed to house and studying up the laws of eviction.

Sawmill Men Will Meet.

Lesure the Dubuque man who is to build the new mill on Grassy Point, F. McDonough, the builder, Mr. S. Johnson, Johnson, and others interested in saw mills are expected to meet in Duluth tomorrow to figure on building the new mills in contemplation. It is expected that work will commence very soon on the Lesure mill.

West Duluth.

John Allyn, who was injured by a fall from the Grand Avenue bridge yesterday, is reported as resting easily today.

The funeral of Mrs. J. W. Phillips was largely attended yesterday afternoon. The members of the board of education were present.

Louis Bridges has resigned his position as foreman of the winding department at the Great Western, and accepted a position with Clausen and Bowler of St. Paul.

Dr. Sargent, who has been in the dental business for a short time, left today for Chicago.

A large native domino party was given on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Williamson. Prices were won by B. C. Dunn, Miss Sharp and H. P. Smith.

The council and members of the board of public works visited West Duluth yesterday afternoon on a tour of inspection of streets and public improvements.

TWO THOUSAND ON STRIKE.

The Garment Makers of Boston Quit Work This Morning.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Acting upon the instructions of the clothing trades council No. 2, the garment makers of this city to the number of 2000 struck work this morning and it is expected that tonight there will not be a clothing contract. The strike is for a reduction in wages and that 3500 operatives will be idle.

This action is the result of the refusal of a number of contractors to concede to the demands of the union for the abolition of the "pinpoint" and "sewing" systems and the introduction of the weekly wage system. The operatives are also desirous of establishing a working day of nine hours with fixed wages.

President Nunez Very Ill.

COLON, Sept. 20.—The greatest anxiety prevails here in regard to reports in circulation about the health of Dr. Rafael Nunez, president of the republic of Colombia. The president has been ill some time, but it is not expected by some that he is dead. All telegraphic news is subject to press censorship and is liable to be suppressed. There is general anxiety in regard to the condition of the president.

Steamer North West. The North West will leave Duluth on her last trip this season on Friday, Sept. 21, at 10:30 p. m.

Duluth Dancing Academy.

Prof. Ours will reopen his Academy Saturday afternoon, Sept. 22, for juveniles; Tuesday evening, Sept. 25, for adults. Office hours 2 to 4 Tuesday and Thursday.

A LIST of reasons why you should not sit upon having Dr. Pierces Pleasant Pleasant in their place: because they are small and the pleasant to take. Because they're the easiest in their ways. No disturbances, no restlessness, no afterward. Their effects last.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The delegates to the convention of the Green Ribbon Society, who had been engaged in a four days' session yesterday, are today the guests of their colleagues in this city. This morning the delegates marched in a body to the foot of East Third street where they embarked on the steamer Laura M. Starin for a sail down the bay.

WHEAT WAS WEAK TODAY. Various Bearish Influences Combined to Make an Easy Market.

Lower cables and larger receipts than last year at Northwestern points, together with a depressed flour market, and bearish influences in corn and the wheat market, were to overcome at the close for yesterday, for December and Dec 1/2. The market ruled dull, slow and listless with prices steady at the opening. The wheat market was not compared with the Chicago market. Cash wheat was in good demand by the mills and shippers, and the market was not much closer than it was dull and unchanged from yesterday. The market was quiet for futures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard cash, 55c; September, 5c; October, 5c; November, 5c; December, 5c; January, 55c; May, 6c; No. 2, 5c; Rejected, 4c. The arrival of 1,000,000 bushels of old wheat from New York, Sept. 14.

Car inspection today—Wheat 154, barley 21, flax 2, oats 1, rye 1. Receipts—Wheat, 133,858 bushels; barley, 11,300 bushels; flax, 200 bushels; oats, 86,671 bushels.

MARKET IS WIDENING.
Large Increase in Amount of Coarse Grains Handled on the Duluth Board.

Within the past year the Duluth board of trade has been coming to the front at a rapid pace, in one respect, at least, that is a market for coarse grain—barley, flour, and oats. Up to this year wheat had been the only grain which was dealt in here in any large quantities, but this year has brought a change, and especially in the matter of barley.

Last year O'Neill, of Winona, who is one of the best grain buyers in the United States, had the only grain elevator on the floor of the Duluth board. Today there are four others, and Duluth barley quotations are only 2 cents behind Chicago. This, of course, had the effect of bringing a large increase in the amount of grain coming into the Duluth market and it has every prospect of being further multiplied.

There is also now on the board a flour buyer, a representative of Spencer, Kellogg & Co., of Buffalo. Rye is not being handled to any great extent as yet but a market is found for some.

City Attorney Morris Wants a Few Days to Consider the Effect of the Water Works Suit.

N. J. Upham Insists That the Case be Tried And This Has Complicated the Situation.

Company Will be Asked to Pay the Election Expenses if it Cannot Deliver the Plant.

The little business jaunt the city fathers took to West Duluth yesterday afternoon via the street car route, thanks to their free street car ticket books, did not in any way prevent them getting together in the council chamber last evening and discussing the regular questions involved in the proposed purchase of the plant of the Duluth Gas and Water company.

H. E. Greene presented some legal opinions. He said that he had investigated both the legal power of the city to buy and legal power of the company to sell. On neither side had any serious obstacle to the deal been discovered.

He held that there were certain circumstances involved with the organization of the company which relieved it from the general rule governing such cases and rendered a transfer of the company's plant possible upon a vote of the members of the corporation.

The main object of the purchase was stated to be the suit now pending in the supreme court, involving the issue of $80,000 water bonds. Were it not for the position taken by N. J. Upham, president of the Gas and Water Trust company, this would be a very simple matter. The gentleman insists that the case go to trial, and City Attorney Morris advised that no election be held until he has tried to fully satisfy himself on what effect the trial of that case will have on the election. Mr. Morris thought that within a day or two he could arrive at a decision and express a belief that if the meeting were adjourned without action taken, he would call the election only a few days at the most and would take the wisest course to pursue.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Hale to the effect that the waterworks special committee, acting in conjunction with the city engineer and the chamber of commerce, the jobbers' union and the Federated Trades assembly, proceed to verify the figures given by President Balkman of the gas and water company; the verification more especially to be done by the gas and water company; the corporation to be called to a special election in case of a tie. Mr. Davis said that the corporation would be being advertised for, not two months after the contract had been commenced.

Another resolution comes from citizens along First street from Fourth avenue east to Second street, corner of Second and First. The street sprinkling on street suspended on the ground of expense and that the work is not well done. That contract has been let and will have to run until it expires. Mr. Davis said that the time to proceed with the work is now, and the order he served on each of those persons known to be executors to be interested in said resolution.

The board now is waiting for authority from the council to erect certain walls and sidewalks around the old St. Louis building. The work is to be done by the aldermen in the afternoon. A motion to adjourn to Friday evening was defeated and another meeting will not be held until the regular time next Monday evening.

While some oppose the calling of a special election, it seems certain that a majority of the aldermen favor it and that such action will be taken as soon as the attorneys interested in the city's side of the matter feel certain of the ground upon which they and the city stand.

Mr. J. A. Jaggard, of St. Paul, Judge Morris, Judge West and J. H. Boyle. The work was an excellent and interesting, and the audience was enthusiastic in its applause. The Club was a great success.

Mr. Jaggard in a happy address said that all Minnesota was watching this country to see it roll up 5000 county seats.

Judge Morris compared Democratic and Republican rule much to the disadvantage of the former. Thirty years of Republican rule, he said, put the country ahead a century, while under Democratic misrule it had gone back a decade.

KILLED WHILE PLAYING.

Bar a Derrick Fell on Julius Benson, Ending His Young Life.

Julius Benson, aged 15 years, son of J. L. Benson, of 620 Garfield avenue, was killed last evening by being struck on the head with a derrick, a device the derrick was used to load cedar poles on to the cars. The boy was swinging on the rope extending from it. The large bar became loosened and dropped striking him. He lived but half an hour.

The body was removed to the morgue by Dr. Ekhund's order. There will be no inquest.

Destroyed the Barn.

Fire destroyed Morris Thomas' barn on Twelfth street last evening. It contained a valuable logging outfit which was destroyed. A cow which was taken out but disappeared, some body evidently appropriating it. The loss was in the neighborhood of $1000.

THE MONEY THROWN AWAY.

Appropriation Thrown Away in High Salaries and Useless Formalities.

DENVER, Sept. 21.—Lieut. Edward H.
Plummer has been relieved, at his own request, from duty as acting agent at the Navajo Indian agency. In a report to the Indian department Lieut. Plummer states that half of the $60,000 appropriated by congress to build an irrigating ditch on the Navajo reservation, in concordance with Gen. McCook's recommendation, has been thrown away and there is nothing to show for it only 145 yards of ditch, as useless as if it were in the middle of the Sierras.

It is the opinion of Lieut. Plummer that the Navajo Indians are not fit to handle the work. He recommends that the Navajo Indians be removed from the agency and turned over to the U. S. Army to be used as a labor force.

With a strong, clear reservation, he proposes to turn the Indians over to the hands of an alleged useless irrigating committee, the Navajos are on the verge of starvation, according to Lieut. Plummer.

LOST THREE VESSELS

The Japanese Lost Three Warships at the Naval Battle Fought in the Yalu River.

While a Japanese Dispatch Confirms This Chinese Claim, Japanese Official Advises Deny the Story.

Twenty Japanese Officers and Men Were Killed and Forty-six Wounded in the Engagement.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A telegram received at Shanghai from Kobe, Japan, confirms the statement, emanating from Chinese sources, that the Japanese lost three warships at the naval battle fought at the mouth of the Yalu river. Their names, however, are not given, and it is evident that the Japanese official dispatches are incomplete.

The Chronicle this morning points out that the Japanese are not surprised by the loss of their ships, and that those before her damaged vessels will be much quicker repaired. This will give her a distinct advantage in the future. It is safe to forecast also that the Chinese army, landed by the Yalu river, will surround after a brief defense. If the war continues, the Chinese will soon be compelled to ask terms of peace.

The Times this morning, commenting upon the Japanese advance upon Wusih, and the arrival of the fleet to Mukden says that the capture of that port will be accepted throughout the empire as an omen that the emperor is unworthy of divine protection.

As far as we are aware of the court appears to be aware of the consequences which could follow the fall of Mukden. It may be assumed that they would yield to any most demand rather than run the risk of such a catastrophe.

A dispatch from Tokio says: The naval department has received a report from the naval attaché regarding the Japanese fleet in the gulf of Pei Chi, the effect that he engaged the enemy on Monday last and inflicted heavy loss. A Japanese fleet, consisting of nine warships and two fast transports, armed with guns and torpedoes, had been sent in search of the enemy's northern fleet, which was sighted at noon Monday, 20 miles north-east of the island of Hai Yung Pao.

The Japanese pursued the enemy at full speed. The Chinese showed no disposition to alter their course and give battle. The chase lasted a little over an hour, the Japanese gaining. Shortly after 1 o'clock the cruiser Chi Yot got within range of the Chinese flagship, the guns of which opened fire upon her and a running fight ensued. Several ships of both sides were quickly engaged. This lasted over two hours.

The Chinese transports entered the Yalu river safely during the main engagement, which was fought in the night. The transports were last seen at Mukden. Three Chinese ships were successfully disabled and sunk and another was set on fire and destroyed. Several of the enemy's warships were seriously damaged by the heavy fire. The Japanese of whom were so well handled that none of them were lost. The Japanese and Hi Yot were the only ones damaged to any great extent, but one of the armed transports was badly crippled and put out of action.

The adiral does not mention the number of dead or wounded. A private telegraph says that twenty Japanese officers and men were killed and forty-six wounded. Another private dispatch says the casualties on the Japanese side did not exceed 100. The news of the victory has caused great rejoicing in Tokio, and a war loan has been subscribed for three times the amount desired.

A Japanese Denial.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The Japanese minister has received a dispatch from the Tokio government today confirming the reports that the Japanese had lost no ships at the naval battle of Yalu, and briefly reciting the circumstances of the battle as given in the earlier unofficial reports.

Stabbed by a Convict.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—W. F. Goetz,

All that's Yellow is not Cottolene

There's hardly a housekeeper in the country but has heard of Cottolene the new vegetable shortening. It is a strictly natural product; composed only of clarified cotton seed oil, thickened for convenience in use, with refined beef suet—pure and sweet. So composed,

COTTOLENE

Was bound to win, and to drive out lard from the kitchens of the world. When housekeepers wish to get rid of the unpleasant features and results of lard, they should get Cottolene, taking care that they are not given cheap counterfeits with imitative names, spuriously compounded to sell in the place of Cottolene.

It's easy to avoid disappointment and insure satisfaction. Insist on having Cottolene.

Commander McCalla Peeled Off His Coat and Wanted to Wipe the Floor With Him.

The Altercation May Cost McCalla a Trial by Court Martial and Possibly His Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—The Chronicle has the following special from Vallejo, Cal.: Commander McCalla, naval equipment officer at Mare Island navy yard, had an altercation with Robert Gore which may cost the commander a trial by court martial and possibly his commission. The trouble arose over the contract for supplying hay. The price named in the bill was $0.10 a ton. Gore went to the navy yards to collect the bill. The contractor informed McCalla of the object of his visit.

McCalla told Gore he was supplying civilians of Vallejo with hay at $0.10 a ton. This Gore denied and hot words followed. Gore informing McCalla that he was no gentleman and also said something to the commander's uniform being a shield against personal chastisement.

The commander peeled his uniform coat and cast it upon the floor at the same time marching toward the door, which he locked and seated the key. These proceedings were witnessed by Gore who pounded the door and cried for help. As no assistance came, Gore began to run around the room, overturning chairs and furniture, while the commander grappled.

Gore finally put his foot to the door and burst it open and the terrified contractor ran for his life. Official attention will be drawn to Gore's narrative. This lasted over two hours.

The Chinese transports entered the Yalu river safely during the main engagement, which was fought in the night.

Three Chinese ships were successfully disabled and sunk and another was set on fire and destroyed. Several of the enemy's warships were seriously damaged by the heavy fire. The Japanese of whom were so well handled that none of them were lost. The Japanese and Hi Yot were the only ones damaged to any great extent, but one of the armed transports was badly crippled and put out of action.

The adiral does not mention the number of dead or wounded. A private telegraph says that twenty Japanese officers and men were killed and forty-six wounded. Another private dispatch says the casualties on the Japanese side did not exceed 100. The news of the victory has caused great rejoicing in Tokio, and a war loan has been subscribed for three times the amount desired.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21.—W. F. Goetz,

DISMISSED IN DISGRACE.

A Consul General of the Austro-Hungarian Empire Went Wrong.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Private cables

received here from Vienna announce that Dr. Anton Von Palitschek, late consul general to the United States, located at New York, had been dismissed in disgrace from the consular service of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

While acting as imperial and royal commissioner general to the World's fair, the ex-consul is said to have compelled American exhibitors to pay for their space in manuscript, had also solicited one of the large carrying companies to do the same. Von Palitschek is interested in a financial factor and will offend tidewater and New York timinals.

The road will make an outlet from the Connellsburg region to the seaboard, and the Chinese will be accepted throughout the empire as an omen that the emperor is unworthy of divine protection.

As far as we are aware of the court appears to be aware of the consequences which could follow the fall of Mukden. It may be assumed that they would yield to any most demand rather than run the risk of such a catastrophe.

A dispatch from Tokio says: The naval department has received a report from the naval attaché regarding the Japanese fleet in the gulf of Pei Chi, the effect that he engaged the enemy on Monday last and inflicted heavy loss. A Japanese fleet, consisting of nine warships and two fast transports, armed with guns and torpedoes, had been sent in search of the enemy's northern fleet, which was sighted at noon Monday, 20 miles north-east of the island of Hai Yung Pao.

The Japanese pursued the enemy at full speed. The Chinese showed no disposition to alter their course and give battle. The chase lasted a little over an hour, the Japanese gaining. Shortly after 1 o'clock the cruiser Chi Yot got within range of the Chinese flagship, the guns of which opened fire upon her and a running fight ensued. Several ships of both sides were quickly engaged. This lasted over two hours.

The Chinese transports entered the Yalu river safely during the main engagement, which was fought in the night.

Three Chinese ships were successfully disabled and sunk and another was set on fire and destroyed. Several of the enemy's warships were seriously damaged by the heavy fire. The Japanese of whom were so well handled that none of them were lost. The Japanese and Hi Yot were the only ones damaged to any great extent, but one of the armed transports was badly crippled and put out of action.

The news of the victory has caused great rejoicing in Tokio, and a war loan has been subscribed for three times the amount desired.

A Japanese Denial.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The Japanese minister has received a dispatch from the Tokio government today confirming the reports that the Japanese had lost no ships at the naval battle of Yalu, and briefly reciting the circumstances of the battle as given in the earlier unofficial reports.

Co-operation in England.

The steady advance of the co-operative movement in England, started with the experiment of the Rochdale Pioneers fifty years ago, is truly impressive. According to statistics recently published the movement was begun by twenty-eight people, while the number of people now engaged is 1,240,000. The trade has grown to the amount of $25,150,000 annually, and the small capital of $10, with which the pioneers started has increased to $70,000,000.The co-operators are now engaged, says a London letter, in considering how to eliminate profit from their undertakings.
It is a curious commentary on the existing state of affairs that this society should be doing what everyone else is trying most ardently to avoid.In the words of the president for this year, "the co-operators seek to place trade upon an equitable basis, and so to organise the supply of human wants as to make it impossible for one section of the community to grow rich at the expense of another. Various means of dealing with profit have been tried. It may, as in private trade, be handed over to the capitalists who provided the instruments of production; it may be given to the worker who supplies the labor by which those instruments are made effective;
or it might be returned to the purchaser who has paid that surplus over cost which alone makes profit possible.All these expedients have been tried, and the co-operator had to decide which was the best calculated to secure that better and wiser distribution of wealth, which was the object of co-operation.
The Rochdale Pioneers inaugurated a system which made the consumers
the basis of its organization, and it was contended that that was the only system which had stood the test of practical experience."It is stated that during the past twenty years many attempts have been made in England to establish some system of cooperative agriculture, in which many societies have been interested. Many of these have failed, and up to the present
there has not been any plan formulated by which success can be achieved in this direction. At the recent meeting of the co-operative congress in the north of England it was thought that the time had come when there should be instituted
a general crusade against the credit system in co-operative stores, as the granting of credit tended immensely to retard the progress of the movement.
It is rather a curious thing that many of the so-called "co-operative" societies were called into existence in consequence of the prevalence of the credit system, and it was their raison d'être to sell cheaper in return for cash payment.
The principal co-operative stores in London (not based on the Rochdale system, however) do not grant an hour's credit, and all goods, without exception, must be paid for before they leave the stores. In view of the great growth and success of the co-operative movement in England, it seems strange that it has not made greater headway in this country.

Direct Legislation.

There is one plank in the Populist platform which deserves careful attention from members of the old party, and that is the resolution declaring in favor of the initiative and referendum.
The character of the laws enacted by many of our legislatures has created a widespread feeling that the representatives of the people should be brought into more direct control by the people in the making of laws, in order that the greatest good may be secured to the greatest number.These remarks have been prompted by the deliberations of the Direct Legislation League, which was recently in session at Asbury Park, N. J. The call for this convention said: "No thoughtful lover of his country and its free institutions can fail to observe the growing feeling of dissatisfaction with our representative form of government as at present conducted. Whether that dissatisfaction is well founded or not, so long as it exists and is growing, some remedy for the condition should be sought. We are told that we have the remedy in our hands, that by the ballot we can change our representatives, but we find when we do so that the men we send to state and national legislatures do not fully and speedily

do the acts the people have sent them to do, but, regardless of their promises and carelessness of the welfare of the people, often spend their time in seeking party advantage or personal gain. We believe the masses now see that, through the power directly to enact the laws which the initiative gives and the repressive power of veto which comes through the referendum, the people will have a remedy in their hands through the peaceful method of the ballot."

Another Theory Upset.

It has been a very generally accepted theory that the breathing of sewer gas is the most fruitful cause of zymotic diseases.
Now comes A. C. Ranyard with an article in Knowledge, in which he attacks this ancient theory and produces evidence that almost proves that the theory is erroneous. He says that in 1883 M. Miguel made experiments in the Paris sewers, with surprising results. He found an average of from 0.5 to 0.9 of micro-organisms per litre in the sewers under the Rue de Rivoli, and that the air of the street contained in summer five or six times more organisms per litre than that of the sewer. In winter he assumed that this ratio would probably be reversed.

Doctors Cornell and Haldane undertook a series of observations in the main sewer of Westminster palace, London, and in some of the sewers in Dundee, Scotland.
Their deductions were:

1. That the carbonic acid gas in sewer air is about twice as much, and the organic matter about three times as much as in the outside air at the same time.

2. The number of micro-organisms is less in sewer air than in the outside air
at the same time.

3. The quantity of carbonic acid, or organic matter, and micro-organisms in sewer air is less than in the air of naturally ventilated schools, and with the exception of organic matter, it is less than in the air of mechanically ventilated schools.

4. Sewer gas contains a much smaller number of micro-organisms than the air
in any class of houses they had investigated.

During the last year and a half the London county council has prosecuted
a series of experiments in the sewers of London under the supervision of J. Parry Laws. The first series, experimental on was constructed and has been in use for over 100 years, and has therefore had time to be contaminated in every possible way. In this, and in the other sewers examined by Mr. Laws, he found that the micro-organisms in the sewer air belong to the class known as non-pathogenic, they are harmless bacteria and, with one exception, similar to those commonly found in air and water.

Mr. Laws says in his report: "There are two points with reference to organisms in sewer air to which I wish to call special attention—firstly, the absence of bacillus coli communis and micrococcus urea, two organisms which must be present in sewage in immense numbers; secondly, the almost entire absence of any organisms, capable of very rapidly liquefying gelatin, the only exceptions being the common bacillus and a micrococcus mentioned in my first report." His experiments seem to upset the theory that zymotic diseases are spread by micro-organisms conveyed by sewer gas. People may therefore dread no longer the consequences of inhaling sewer gas.

Genius may not be hereditary, but the grandson of Eli Whitney, the inventor of the cotton gin, would seem to be as likely a candidate for fame as his grandfather. If his cotton picking machine works, it will be a great success.

The New York Times jubilates over the prospects of trade in that city. It asserts that "some of the wholesale merchants are almost overwhelmed with buyers and demands for goods by mail and telegraph." It observes that "out-of-town buyers are here in greater numbers than in many years, with cheerful countenances, and all with an abounding faith in the bright prospect before them."

Calderon, the well-known Spanish writer, has joined the crusade now going on in Spain against the inhuman practice of bull fighting. It seems queer that such a crusade should be necessary in this enlightened age, but the fight is made especially dangerous, especially in Madrid, and it is gratifying that at least some of the Spaniards have become so enlightened as to oppose this brutal sport.

Edward Atkinson predicts that this country will become within a very short time the greatest agricultural, manufacturing, shipbuilding and commercial country in the world. But not only Yankees, even British statisticians foretell it.

A Rockford minister recently refused a call to go to Chicago at twice his rural salary. The temptations of the wicked city no doubt were responsible for his declination, and who can blame him?

Cruel Treatment.

Eli Noyes, Capt. Smallwood was probably ready to come back into the Republican party again. It was a little cruel for the Populists to treat the genial captain so meanly.

Water on the Brain.

Superior Telegram: The people in Duluth seem to have a severe case of
water on the brain.

The public health is the basis of the drug store, and drugs are administered and remedies prescribed to preserve it. The public health of Duluth is most secure when drugs and medicines are obtained at Boyce's Drug Store. All our drugs are fresh, pure and potent, and every prescription is compounded with the most attentive care by a thoroughly trained and skillful pharmacist. We also have all the usual sundries, grocery and druggist in stock, such as Celery Compound, etc. Besides drugs and medicinines we are also offering a very full line of toilet articles.

For thee, whose love so dear, dear,
Sweetest, dearest, dearest, dearest, dearest.These few songs of mine, dear, dear,
Are but the outgrowth of
All my love's desire, dear,
Of all my love's desire, dear.More happy fairies are they, dear,
From love's glimmering sea,
Whose tide will flood my heart, dear,
Through all eternity.Then list no more, dear, dear,
And list no more, dear, dear,
With the music of your voice, dear,
And with the sunshine of your smile.

NOT MOVING SWIFTLY.
Robert Hoffman of Pine City, Thinks the State Commission a Little Slow.

Robert Hoffman, president of the council of Pine City, was in Duluth yesterday. His father and mother were Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, the aged couple who perished at Sandstone. Mr. Hoffman says the reports that there are complaints being made against the state commission by the survivors at Hinckley are correct and attributes it to the fact that the commission has been slow in its work, especially in the matter of building. He says there may be reason for it, but thinks they might move a little quicker. Another thing which he claims to have noticed is that the commission is not doing its work in a proper way. Hinckley men as paupers, in a way, whereas they are in reality hard working men who only need aid for a short period and are willing to work if only they can get the opportunity. Clined they have a desire to do this. He thinks Secretary Hart regards the men now at Hinckley trying to build their homes again as of about the same class as those he meets among the refugees in Duluth and Minneapolis. Many of the latter, he says, are rather well-to-do and in no way inferior to the men who have returned to their homes, however are energetic and pushing.

Mr. Hoffman thinks it will come out all right in the end, but says there undoubtedly is delay.

DIRECTORY NOW OUT.

R. L. Polk & Co. Have Their Annual for Duluth and Superior for 1894-5 Ready for Delivery.

In Size it is About the Same as Last Year and Contains Valuable Information.

Jury Awarded Contractor William Walka a Verdict for Ten Dollars Against Capt. Thompson.

The Duluth and Superior directory for 1894-95, issued by R. L. Polk & Co. is just out and ready for delivery. It is about the same size as last year's and contains about the same number of names. The population of the city is estimated at 75,000. The preface says:

"The present population of Duluth is estimated at 75,000 including all the new territory and is practically the same as last year for the same locality. This is a very conservative estimate yet it is an increase of about 36,000 over the United States census for the same district. And this enormous progress must attract the attention of the entire country."

Valuable statistics and facts of reference are given in the directory. Figures showing the assessed valuation and tax rate, business of the banks, receipts and shipments of flour and wheat, receipts of coal and other matters are given in tabular form. Duluth's location and history, business advantages, buildings, banks, business houses, transportation, shipping interests, manufacturing industries, schools and churches, parks, etc., are all enlarged upon in an intelligent and clear manner.

TEN DOLLARS DAMAGES.

Contractor Walka gets a Verdict Against Capt. Thompson.

At 10 o'clock this morning, the jury in the case of William Walka vs. Capt. Sam Thompson of the city police vs. Capt. Sam Thompson of the police city, in which $500 damages, for false arrest were sued for, returned a sealed verdict giving the plaintiff damages in the sum of $10. R. P. Edson, attorney for the plaintiff, said that Capt. Walka satisfied as far as he told the jury a vindication of Mr. Walka desired. Mr. Edson says, however, that he has another damage case brewing, but on this fact he did not say. The damages in this case, he said, were $1000, and he pushed to the uttermost. He wants to see things done legally by the policemen in Duluth.

Yesterday afternoon, Z. H. Bailey was brought before Judge Powell on the charge of contempt of court. The charge was based on Mr. Austin's failure to appear for duty as a juror. He was assessed 95 cents, the charge on the summons.

Two drunks pleaded guilty. One went up and the other was let go.

"Some time ago Bailey sent away for a thoroughbred bird dog. Laid down in Duluth the animal cost him $71.

"Well, we read about the dog, and

"We are away from there as quickly as possible and after moving on some distance again turned the dog loose to see how he'd work. He went at it all right and soon came to a beautiful point, Bailey nearly went crazy with joy and excitement."

"Don't touch him! Don't touch him!" he shouted. "I must have a picture of that."

"So we all stood there with our guns raised while the dog lay down and that dog, we really did come to a point that would overjoy any sportsman living."

"Now, all ready!" exclaimed Bailey.

"We cocked our guns and stood ready to shoot the birds as they were flushed."

Bailey, in his excitement, passed the dog forward. The animal didn't do a thing but kill two sheep and a pig.

Great Eastern Duluth
Our store is rapidly changing its dress;
The lines of autumn appear in every department.

Tomorrow, Saturday, We Begin in Earnest The Fall Business!

For months past (whilst others were idly waiting and wondering what to do) we were in the markets ransacking and searching for the good things in the Clothing world for the people of Duluth—

With the Result

that today you should see the piles and piles of Suits and Overcoats ready to wear. Whilst you'll be astonished at the quality, the most surprise will be the PRICE.

More for Our Money Here,"

This is the every-day speech of thousands of people who buy throughout our house. Listen, and you'll also hear this: "They always have more here for us to see, and somehow we are better satisfied with what we get." Again, "No use of going anywhere else," and again, "I have tried elsewhere and I only came back after wasting my time."

Well, it is certain sure that this store gets better and better every year.

Men's Suits.

FREE WOOL has made it possible to do wonderful things in this department.

195 All Wool Brown Diagonal Cassimere Sack Suits.....	$4.99
126 All Wool Sack Business Suits in Dark Gray Cheviots.....	$7.99

While we mention these low-priced Suits, don't forget for a moment that we have grander and greater lines of Suits at $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00 and $25.00 than we ever had. Every man in Duluth don't want a low-priced Suit; but he wants a good Suit for a little money, and this is where our saving to him of from $20 to $30 over tailor prices helps him out these times.

Men's Overcoats!

SAME AS IN SUITS.

When the Tariff Fell we had possession of our own minds and anticipated the effect of the law by promptly raising a NEW SCALE OF PRICES, and Overcoats that sold last season for $20.00 are now... $15.00 $18.00 are now... $12.00 $15.00 are now... $10.00 and so on throughout the line.

THE FAIR AT BARNUM.

The Annual Exhibition of the Carlton County Association Ended in a Blaze of Glory.

Weather Was Fair, the Crowds Large, and the Contests Were of a Spirited Character.

Some of the Exhibits May Be Brought to the St. Louis County Fair This Month.

BAURN, Minn., Sept. 21.—[Special to The Herald.]—The last day of the fourth annual fair of the Carlton County association closed in a blaze of glory. Fair weather, large crowds and spirited contests which transpired in the afternoon all combined to make everyone feel in the best of spirits. Quite a number of Carlton and Cloquet people were in attendance but the horsemen from those places, who had been in the habit heretofore of leading, were outvied by the presence of one or two horses which could easily beat their nags, and did not attend with their stable strings.

The races resulted as follows: Three-mile bicycle race, with C. A. Smith, Gust Hult, and C. A. Schell of New Duluth, as winners; by the latter in 100 seconds, with ridiculous ease. The free-for-all pony race was exciting, and there were four entries. Two riders, Rossie Wilson and Ernest Pierson were thrown; on the first heat, however, escaped with only a fall. The "White Stocking" and "Dicks" were ruled out. Roy and John Goodell, mounted respectively on "Dion" and "Prince," ran four heats, John winning the first and Roy capturing the final race. Time: 2:12 1/2 to 2:13 1/2.

In the race for county horses, Editor Mackay rode the Campbell horse from Carlton, winning the first heat, followed, defeating Thompson's and Walder's horses from Mahoowa, and Oliver's horse from Barnum. Time: 1:56, 1:50, 1:52.

A 100-yard foot race, with C. L. Anderson of Barnum; M. Limerick of Carlton, and R. Scheel of New Duluth, was won by the latter in 100 seconds, with ridiculous ease.

Time: 2:12 1/2 to 2:13 1/2.

In the free-for-all horses, there were three entries and considerable money was up, of which the Duluth and West Duluth sports dropped nearly all they had wagered. The horses were "Rowed" by the Bureau of Knowledge; "Dick" owned by M. Cain, of Barnum, and "Nellie Blu" owned by H. Patterson, of West Duluth. O. K. Simons rode Patterson's horse and took the first heat, but Editor C. A. Mackay mounted on Carlton's horse, won the second heat, and had too good a start and won the next three heats with ease. Time: 1:51, 50, 1:56, 1:51.

An exhibition race, half a mile long, was given by the Filataud horse, from West Duluth, the distance being covered in 1:52. The rating judges were Sheriff W. C. McKinnon, H. E. Skelton and C. P. Peterson.

It is quite probable that a number of the exhibits will be sent up from Barnum to the Lake Superior Fair, but the idea of showing a neighbor's leading, and if this is done the St. Louis county agriculturists want to get right up and hustle, for there is not a Lilliputian specimen in the Carlton county show. Just men in the Carlton county show, however, are not to be outdone, and the judges will be asked to give a hearty verdict.

A small idea of the extent of the agricultural and horticultural exhibit may be gained from the statement that there are 336 entries in these departments, and they are not small, but are bushels in quantity, except some of the large vegetables which will fill a bushel measure—some of the pumpkins, squashes and cabbages coming under this head.

There are twenty-two entries in the poultry and department classes. Fine bronze and white turkeys; Toulon geese; Pekin ducks; brahmas, Leghorns, houdans, Plymouth rocks, and other strains of chickens, weighing about two specimens, and are making a fine show.

In the live stock department there are thirty-six entries, ranging from Holsteins, Durhams and Jerseys down to magnificent specimens of domestic blooded cattle, and the best of the beef is represented by twenty-four entries—Clydesdales, percherons, Normans and hybrid strains, ranging from working teams weighing considerably over 1,000 pounds down to minute colts or ponies under 100 pounds, the smallest being a two-year-old colt.

There are six pens of sheep, principally of Shropshire, Southdown and Cotswold strains, representing forty-six head in all, and remarkably fine specimens.

The swine have only four pens with twenty-one animals, all Berkshires or Poland China or mixed breeds, but giving evidence of becoming fine porkers in a few months.

There is a fine exhibit of natural woods, showing some thirty varieties nicely arranged. Some good specimens of painting are to be seen. A rather striking exhibit is that of the homemade cloths of Otto Erickson, covering all varieties of cloths from flannel to fine tweeds. John Steinbeck of Moose lake, has an interesting exhibit of domestic tanned skins and hides which prove that it is not necessary to send far away for any work of this description.

Some fine wood turning, scroll sawing and other wood work is to be seen in the proper division. In fancy work the ladies of Carlton county have done themselves proud and their department is well filled. Home spun wools, home made felt shoes, rag shoes, tides, quilts, draw work, etc, are to be found in great profusion. Flowers and shrubs are represented by fifty-eight entries, some of them very fine ones. Five varieties of apples, some of them a pound in weight and raised at Barnum are to be seen, and there are, in addition, six varieties of crabapples.

Bread and cakes are plentiful and everyone goes away with an appetite who glances however briefly at this display. The writer of course, sees entries are numerous, and there are sixty-nine entries of homemade preserves, pickles, canned goods, etc. Some fine minerals are shown, also nice specimens of Barnum brick.

AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA.

A Large British Vessel Sunk With All on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—The big British ship Senegal is at the bottom of the Pacific somewhere in latitude 30° 17' north, longitude 110° 08' west, for it was in about that locality that C. Olsen, a sailor on the schooner Mary C. Russ, saw her red light go out one stormy night at sea.

The Senegal was built in San Francisco, and was a large iron ship of the latest design and was considered one of the best in the English merchant marine service. The captain was accompanied by his young daughter and a crew of twenty-seven men, all of whom were lost when the vessel sailed, and the only tidings of her was when Capt. Thompson, of the schooner Mary C. Russ wrote from San Diego a few weeks ago, saying that he was in company with the Senegal, and that she was in the presence of one or two horses which could easily beat their nags, and did not attend with their stable strings.

The races resulted as follows: Three-mile bicycle race, with C. A. Smith, Gust Hult, and C. A. Schell of New Duluth, as winners; by the latter in 100 seconds, with ridiculous ease. In the free-for-all horses, there were three entries and considerable money was up, of which the Duluth and West Duluth sports dropped nearly all they had wagered. The horses were "Rowed" by the Bureau of Knowledge; "Dick" owned by M. Cain, of Barnum, and "Nellie Blu" owned by H. Patterson, of West Duluth. O. K. Simons rode Patterson's horse and took the first heat, but Editor C. A. Mackay mounted on Carlton's horse, won the second heat, and had too good a start and won the next three heats with ease. Time: 1:51, 50, 1:56, 1:51.

An exhibition race, half a mile long, was given by the Filataud horse, from West Duluth, the distance being covered in 1:52. The rating judges were Sheriff W. C. McKinnon, H. E. Skelton and C. P. Peterson.

It is quite probable that a number of the exhibits will be sent up from Barnum to the Lake Superior Fair, but the idea of showing a neighbor's leading, and if this is done the St. Louis county agriculturists want to get right up and hustle, for there is not a Lilliputian specimen in the Carlton county show. Just men in the Carlton county show, however, are not to be outdone, and the judges will be asked to give a hearty verdict.

A small idea of the extent of the agricultural and horticultural exhibit may be gained from the statement that there are 336 entries in these departments, and they are not small, but are bushels in quantity, except some of the large vegetables which will fill a bushel measure—some of the pumpkins, squashes and cabbages coming under this head.

There are twenty-two entries in the poultry and department classes. Fine bronze and white turkeys; Toulon geese; Pekin ducks; brahmas, Leghorns, houdans, Plymouth rocks, and other strains of chickens, weighing about two specimens, and are making a fine show.

In the live stock department there are thirty-six entries, ranging from Holsteins, Durhams and Jerseys down to magnificent specimens of domestic blooded cattle, and the best of the beef is represented by twenty-four entries—Clydesdales, percherons, Normans and hybrid strains, ranging from working teams weighing considerably over 1,000 pounds down to minute colts or ponies under 100 pounds, the smallest being a two-year-old colt.

There are six pens of sheep, principally of Shropshire, Southdown and Cotswold strains, representing forty-six head in all, and remarkably fine specimens.

The swine have only four pens with twenty-one animals, all Berkshires or Poland China or mixed breeds, but giving evidence of becoming fine porkers in a few months.

There is a fine exhibit of natural woods, showing some thirty varieties nicely arranged. Some good specimens of painting are to be seen. A rather striking exhibit is that of the homemade cloths of Otto Erickson, covering all varieties of cloths from flannel to fine tweeds. John Steinbeck of Moose lake, has an interesting exhibit of domestic tanned skins and hides which prove that it is not necessary to send far away for any work of this description.

Some fine wood turning, scroll sawing and other wood work is to be seen in the proper division. In fancy work the ladies of Carlton county have done themselves proud and their department is well filled. Home spun wools, home made felt shoes, rag shoes, tides, quilts, draw

SCORING A SUCCESS.

"Dr. Syntax," With De Wolf Hopper in a New Role, Succeeding in New York City.

The Libretto Fairly Bubbles Over With Bright Lines and There Are Some Pretty Melodies.

The Best Thing in Its Line Which New Yorkers Have Heard for a Long Time.

Comic opera literally "rules the roost" now in New York. Delta Fox is giving "The Little Trotter" at the Casino, Dixie is at the Academy, and the rest of us are "Dr. Syntax" at the Broadway and French Wilson is just starting out for a run at Abbey's in "The Devil's Deputy." This gives us the three most important figures in very light opera in America, all with the exception of the Boston Opera. Besides, if Mr. Goodman had not sold out on the libretto of "The Little Trotter," he would have enjoyed that unique distinction of having three new works running simultaneously at three of the finest theaters on Broadway:

"Dr. Syntax," De Wolf Hopper's vehicle for the present season, is an adaptation from the German play, "Aschenbrödel," which Tom Robertson appropriated the famous "Schlaf," with which his name is so familiar. It has been well linked. About 12 or 15 years ago Woodrow Morse made a great many changes in the German comedy, did a lot of original mu-

site for it and submitted it to Augustin Daly, who produced it, and Miss Ada Rehan, who was not quite as famous then as she is now, and who was the first to play it who was everthingly chewing gum. Miss Rehan's work, by the way, in that not important role added considerably to her reputation and attracted much attention to her. Mr. Morse's comedy as Daly presented it was, I suppose, a good comedy, but it was not good enough to be a hit. Besides, if Mr. Goodman had not sold out on the libretto of "The Little Trotter," he would have enjoyed that unique distinction of having three new works running simultaneously at three of the finest theaters on Broadway:

"Dr. Syntax," De Wolf Hopper's vehicle for the present season, is an adaptation from the German play, "Aschenbrödel," which Tom Robertson appropriated the famous "Schlaf," with which his name is so familiar. It has been well linked. About 12 or 15 years ago Woodrow Morse made a great many changes in the German comedy, did a lot of original mure, and if it had not been for the changes he made in it, it would have been a hit.

It is not an opera at all, but a musical comedy. And what an improvement it is upon "Wang," "Panjandrum" and other such nondescripts! The libretto fairly bubbles over with bright lines and some of which are evolved naturally from the presumptively surrounding circumstances. The music is excellent, with several numbers which are certain to be very popular. The orchestration in many respects is the best I have ever heard in New York. There is a tendency to bring the note into prominence, which, unpleasant and jarring at first, becomes positively offensive after a few repetitions. But, take it all in all, "Dr. Syntax" is the best thing in its line which New Yorkers have had the pleasure of hearing in a long, long time.

De Wolf Hopper in "Dr. Syntax" has made his old bird since he assumed the dignity of a legitimate actor, a reasonably legitimate actor, if it is an exaggeration to say that he has even those enthusiastic followers who are wont to express in hotel lobbies the opinion that "De Wolf can do anything from extravaganzas to 'Syntax'." His present engagement at the Broadway is sure to make Mr. Hopper permanently popular in this city than that he has yet played here. The supporting company this season is exceptionally strong. Cyril Scott, who voluntarily left a comfortable position at School," it made a very good impression, was generally conceded to possess a great many strong points, but it was put upon the shelf until a few months ago, when Morse pulled it down, gave it to his collaborator, and, as you know, to a new life, and himself set it moving again. The result of their joint efforts is "Dr. Syntax," which De Wolf Hopper and his really fine company produced at the Broadway theater a few nights ago. "Dr. Syntax" is not an opera at all, but a musical comedy. And what an improvement it is upon "Wang," "Panjandrum" and other such nondescripts! GREENROOM GOSSIP.

The Marie Tavy English Opera company, under the management of Charles H. H. Parker, will have more than 120 in the winter, orchestra and ballet. A large repertoire is promised.

Paderewski will play his "Polish Fantasy" with orchestra for the first time in this country when he opens his tour in New York Dec. 27.

Eva Varcas, a competent actress, has joined the legitimate for the vaudeville stage and will appear in an elaborate sketch introducing the songs of all nations.

Mr. Hubert Wilke and Miss Amalie Myers are in the support of Miss Lillian Russell during her London engagements.

Lotta is in London and announces that she has no idea of ever again appearing upon the stage.

Music Lillian is suing her husband for divorce on the ground of brutality, infidelity and nonsupport.

Sarah Bernhardt has returned to London and is busy rehearsing the new play that Sarah has written for her.

The gross receipts of the Paris theater for 1893-4 amounted to $4,064,320, of which the tax was paid as authors' dues $36,000, while the poor of Paris benefited by a like sum.

Mme. Patti will sing in four operas at Nino in January next.

Dr. Drury is composing an oratorio for the Cardiff musical festival of 1895 and will conduct it himself.

Lillian Russell announces that if she is a success in "The Queen of Brilliant" she will return to the stage in the spring of 1895 for a season, when probably she will open in the comic opera "Cleopatra," now being written for her.

The success which Zimmerman, Banker and Wheeler have attained in the professional ranks in New York has led the supporters of cash prize racing to believe that there is still an opportunity to popularize the sport in America.

In spite of the considerable money lost by the promoters of the Cash Prize league last season, a movement is now afoot, well backed, to bring back to America the American professionals as a part of foreign racing men to this country this fall and hold a series of professional meetings throughout the country.

Eng and congenial role, but in "Dr. Syntax" all that she has allotted to her appears to have been dragged in by the hair of the dog to the point of being forced to do it. Miss Waltzinger is good enough to be at the head of her own opera company, or at least to play the principal character if she were not actually starred.

The other people with Mr. Hopper are all above the average in ability, and the nice is beautifully played.

OVERNINETY DEAD!

A Terrible Cyclone Visited Southern Minnesota and Northern Iowa Last Night, Causing Heavy Loss of Life and Considerable Destruction of Property.

The Greatest Number of People Killed Was in Iowa, Twenty Being Killed Outright at Emmetsburg, Ten at Osage and Fifteen at Burt.

Eight Farm Houses Were Destroyed at North Cerro Gordo, Everything Being Laid Flat, and Four People Were Killed and Five Fatally Injured.

The Business Section of the Village of Leroy Fatally Wrecked, Buildings Being Swept Away Like Chaff By the Resistless Power of the Storm.

WINONA, Sept. 22.—A cyclone from the southwest struck Spring Valley, Minn., at 10 o'clock last night. It struck the northern part of the town first, demolishing the Winona & Southwestern depot, a windmill, a water tank, an oil tank, the cold storage house of the Schellbach Brewing Company, of Winona, utterly destroying them, together with a dozen or more houses. Three persons of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad received reports of the storm at 2 o'clock this morning. These reports say that a storm of intensity almost approaching a cyclone struck the village of Leroy, which is about twenty miles southeast of Austin, where it did damage to several buildings and carried away the telegraph wires. It must also have damaged the wires of the Great

DODGE CENTER VISITED.

Barns, Roofs, Small Buildings and Chimneys Injured, but No Loss of Life.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 22.—A Dodge Center, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: The cyclone last night was the worst since the Rochester cyclone. The barn and all the outbuildings of the Windsor hotel are destroyed as well as the contents; also the west end of Hardin's elevator contents to the storm. F. J. Trask's business block was quickly smashed down into a 1-story building as if struck by a mighty blow from above. C. A. Roy's hardware store was treated in the same way and wrecked.

The main part of Porter & Young's store with general merchandise was destroyed. The loss of life is small, owing to the fact that the residence portion was largely spared, but barns were blown away, cattle killed, shade trees uprooted and trees down, but a few hours later.

The revolving cloud first struck the Milwaukee depot, entirely demolishing it, only a part of one side being left. Then it took three elevators and three houses on the south side of the street, demolishing them and exposing their contents to the storm. F. J. Trask's business block was quickly smashed down into a 1-story building as if struck by a mighty blow from above. C. A. Roy's hardware store was treated in the same way and wrecked.

stroyed. The loss of life is small, owing to the fact that the residence portion was largely spared, but barns were blown away, cattle killed, shade trees uprooted and trees down, but a few hours later.

The revolving cloud first struck the Milwaukee depot, entirely demolishing it, only a part of one side being left. Then it took three elevators and three houses on the south side of the street, demolishing them and exposing their contents to the storm. F. J. RETURNED A VERDICT.

Jury in the Merritt Case After Being Out
Thirty Hours Finds For Lon Merritt.

Awarded Twelve Thousand Five Hundred and Thirty Dollars For His Services For the Road.

Jury Was Divided and the Struggle Was a Long One, the Opinions Differing Greatly.

At 6 o'clock last night, after a deliberation of thirty and one-half hours, the jury in the Merritt case brought into court a verdict of $12,530 for the plaintiff Leonidas Merritt. Court had adjourned, so the verdict was sealed and placed in the hands of the foreman to be delivered to the court at 9:30 this morning.

As the jurymen are not allowed to divulge the contents of a sealed verdict the public was kept in ignorance last night of the amount of the verdict, though it was generally understood that it was for the plaintiff. Guesses were wild, and ran all the way from $1000 to $30,000.

The agreement was unexpected, for but three minutes before it was reached, the court adjourned, and Deputy Marshal, who was in charge, to obtain a supper for them and to arrange for the use of one of the large court rooms for the second night's deliberations. Then two men who had been standing out for several hours agreed upon a compromise and the trial of the jury was at an end.

The majority of the eleven men in the room were in favor of a verdict for the plaintiff on the start. On the first ballot there was one vote for the defendant. An hour or two sufficed to argue the vote over to the side of the plaintiff and then the long struggle over the amount to be awarded began. The amounts favored by the jurymen ran farther apart than the guesses on the street last night.

It amounted to from $100 up to $1,000, wanted to give Lon Merritt $35,000, only $10,000 less than the amount sued for. The remaining nine jurymen favored various intermediate amounts, mostly over $15,000. The majority of them wanted larger amounts than was finally awarded.

A deadlock was reached yesterday and nearly all day the jury stood nine to two, the two standing out for smaller amounts. The compromise was reached at 6 o'clock last night and was hailed with relief by the tried jurymen, who immediately went home and made up for lost sleep.

The verdict will probably be satisfactory to Mr. Merritt, though he expected and wished a larger one. The usual stay of three days is granted, and an appeal will probably be taken by Mr. Rockefeller's interests, so the issue of this suit depends the bringing of other similar suits.

From Thursday afternoon to within hour of coming out the jury stood 9 to 2 for $25,000.

DAY K. SMITH'S FUNERAL.

Impressive Rites of the Knights of Kadosh Performed Over the Remains.

Accents received here of the Masonic funeral service over the remains of Day K. Smith at Kansas City, show it to have been one of the most profound and impressive character. It was only the second time that such a service had ever been performed in that city. It was the solemn site of the Knights of Kadosh. All the impressive symbolic devices were employed and the service was witnessed by a large gathering of friends.

At the conclusion of the usual rites William Harvey, the venerable first lieutenant, advanced to where Day K. Smith, Jr., the eldest son of the deceased was standing and said:

"Years ago the worshipful master of a lodge upon your father's finger placed this ring upon your father's finger, not as an ornament but as a pledge. Right well has he fulfilled that pledge, and nobly has he lived up to the principles of justice, liberty and truth.

"It was his wish that this ring should

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, now embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has been used for millions and millions with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the Callahan Fig Company, only, whose name is printed on every bottle, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A Marvelous Showing.

The U. S. Government, through the Agricultural Department, has been investigating the baking powders for the purpose of informing the public which was the purest, most economical and wholesome.

The published report shows the Royal Baking Powder to be a pure, healthful preparation, absolutely free from alum or any adulterant, and that it is greatly stronger in leavening power than any other baking powder.

Consumers should not let this valuable information, official and unprejudiced, go unheeded.

be placed at his death upon the finger of his son, who is to be the one to fulfill his wish. I place it upon your finger, adjuring you to remember the lesson of his life. We do not ask you to give us any pledge that you will fulfill his sacred trust. The motto of this ring is in English, "Truth and Justice." It is not separate." Your father wore it with honor, and we feel that you will do the same, and that when you come to the evening of your days you will look back over a well spent life. May God bless you.

The funeral was held last Tuesday and was conducted by the Masons.

THE JAPANESE VICTORY.

Full Account of the Battle Given by the Japanese Admiral.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A dispatch from Tokio today, dated 7 a.m., announces the receipt there of full dispatches from Admiral Ito, the Japanese commander, reporting the naval battle at the mouth of the Yalu river. He says that he was recalled before the war, but he was ordered by his government to remain at Tien Tsin on account of the commencement of hostilities.

A Shanghai special says: A dispatch received here this (Saturday) evening from Tien Tsin reports that all Chinese transports have safely reached Port Arthur.

Mrs. R. A. Folkerts leaves today on the steamer North Star for a extended visit with her mother in Detroit and other relatives in Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin. She expects to be absent about three months. Her many friends in this vicinity wish her a pleasant trip and safe return.

Mr. Hackett will hold religious services at the Smithville school house tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

The first wild goose caught this morning was captured by C. R. Heneage, of Duluth, last Tuesday.

Mrs. John L. Trout is very ill with bronchitis.

New sign boards were erected along the streets last week with the names of each avenue on them.

Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Brown of Duluth, were the guests of Albert Swenson last Monday.

Special Harvest Excursions.

To points in the Northwest, West and South will be run by "The Northwestern Line" on Sept. 25 and Oct. 9. Tickets at greatly reduced rates. Full information at 405 West Superior street.

English Postal Advance.

From British parliamentary reports and the postal guide, published last month, it appears that some very noticeable reforms have been made. The whole system of the telegraph in Great Britain, as is well known, is controlled and owned by the government, and parliament has placed the power in the hands of the postmaster general to make any changes in the charges that he may deem wise, provided they are actually for the benefit of the service and do not interfere with the revenue which has been estimated to come from the postal department.One of the most striking innovations in the telegraphic department of the postoffice, says a recent London letter, is in relation to the press. Now, as formerly, the charge for messages to newspapers is 25 cents for seventy-five words
by day, and the same charge is made for 100 words by night. But this much-despised liberal government, or at least the postmaster general, has made a remarkable reform. In England many newspapers are agents for quite a number of others in different parts of the kingdom and in Ireland. Now we will suppose that a London daily is agent for a paper each in Birmingham, Leeds, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Plymouth, Dublin, Cork, Waterford, Bristol and Warwick, not by any means an extravagant supposition. The London paper receives a special report from one of its home correspondents and repeats it to each of its customers above named; it can do so for 4 cents per seventy-five words in the day time, and the same amount per 100 words at night.This is cheap telegraphing with a vengeance; and it is stated that there is nothing like it in the world. The commercial telegrams cost 1 cent a word, including address and signature, with a minimum charge of 12 cents. At the present time, an agitation is in progress to have the postmaster general make an order that there shall be no
specially designated minimum charge,
but that only the words actually in the message—address and signature included—shall be charged for, and that at 1 cent per word. There is no question about the ultimate result of the appeal; it will be granted. The latest thing of this sort is the acquiescence
of the postmaster general in the request of hosts of people, that the affixing of a 1/2 penny (1 cent) stamp upon a postal card shall constitute it a postal card for all practical purposes.What in this country is known as "special delivery" is designated in England as "express delivery." Up to a very recent date nothing but letters were delivered by this process (and that at 6 cents per mile with the ordinary stamp affixed), but under the new order of things packages not exceeding one pound in weight, urgently addressed and stamped, are delivered with the same celerity as a lover's missive, if sent by "express." If the package weighs over a pound, then for every fraction of a pound beyond 3 cents is charged. In the matter of sizes of packages, too, the public is now increasingly conveniently by the fact that anything of less length than 3/4 feet can be sent, provided that the length and girth does not exceed 6 feet.By parcels post you can send two pounds weight for 10 cents; eleven pounds for 36 cents; as the weight increases to within postoffice bounds the charge is less, proportionately. If there are several packages (packets they are termed here), they must be tied together, for in this way the sender escapes with but a single fee. The limit of weight is fifteen pounds, unless a cabin is provided by the sender. A curious, but very acceptable feature of these reforms
is that special messengers are permitted to accept further local services—i.e.,deliver other packages in the same town upon the same terms—from the recipients, provided he has relieved himself of every package received by him from the postoffice. The senders of letters and packages, whether locally or from distant parts, have to use a small form, and on this form has to be placed the amount of postage, the ordinary stamps as stated, being used.It is worthy of note that, with all these innovations and conveniences for the public the British postal department produces a large annual revenue above expenditures. Why should not some of the reforms here mentioned be introduced into this country?

Uses of Fiction.

The people have long ago decided by a large majority in favor of reading novels, and almost everybody reads them. A few years ago a young man, who wished to form a private library
abstracted from a public library in Chicago some 2000 volumes. They were,
for the most part, books of science, philosophy and theology. There was not a novel in the lot; had these been the books would have been missed and speedily traced; as it was the ambitious youth, with literary tastes, continued to select his library, and as he was careful to respect the wants of the patrons of the public institution—the novel-reader enjoyed for a long time perfect immunity in his effort. If, instead of stealing two church histories or commentaries on systems of theology or introductions to philosophy, he had stolen two novels a day, he would doubtless have been caught the first week.The Boston Transcript contends that there is no longer any doubt that the reading of the best fiction is useful. For one thing, in the case of the great historical novels, it brings distinctly before the mind the events and the prominent characters of bygone days and makes them appear warm, living realities; and this it does through its appeal to the strange, subtle power, the imagination.
Surely it is a precious service which is rendered by such books as "Ivanhoe" and "The Last Days of Pompeii" and "Hypatia"; "The Cloister and the Heart" and "Romola" and "Henry Es-mond" and "Tale of Two Cities"—to name only these from an almost interminable list—that they make real historic personages of various times and countries, rendering vivid to their surroundings, the scenes amidst which they moved, the manners and customs then in vogue, the eager, bold and personal, social, political, religious—which filled the world.The best fiction has power—it inspires, it incites, it moves us. Another important service is the furnishing of amusement and mental recreation. The earnest worker in whatever field needs relaxation,
and this need is supplied by bright,
cheery, humorous novels. In this connection some remarks by Walter Besant will bear quoting and his own high cheerful service gives him a right to make them: "The contempt for imaginative literature is hard to kill. Yet, to utter a well-known phrase, I care not who makes the laws of the country so that I may write their novels for the people. There is no teacher like the novelist; he who writes a book which catches on with the workingmen has more power over them—because they are unconscious of it—than the greatest orator of the day or the most popular paper that is published." There are many people who sneer at and denounce
the novel. They pronounce it trashy and injurious. But the novel will live long after they have left the earth.

A General Improvement.

The reports of the commercial agencies this week are of a gratifying character, reflecting the improvement in trade which has become visible in all sections of the country. Not only is an improvement noted, but it is pointed out that favorable features noticed in the preceding week have been maintained, thus showing that the betterment of conditions is of a permanent character and likely to grow steadily. R. G. Dun & Co. estimate that about a tenth larger than last year. This is a decided gain, and there is good reason for believing that it will steadily increase.The renewed activity which has been visible in New York city during several weeks past shows no abatement. It is goes for his points of comparison to current literature, and complains that while it is ten times more valuable than the current drama, it makes only a tenth as much noise in the world; that is, the French world. Evidently Mr. Vanderem has written a play which has either been refused by a manager or spurned by the public.The Chicago papers are getting back which the press of that city is accustomed to refer to the culture and taste of the

"During the summer that city which usually adopts a tone of arrogant insolence toward the remainder of the country has supported from ten to fifteen to be hopeful. In glancing over the list of the things he hopes for, the eye catches an expression of expectation of the time:

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Decided Apathy, Which It Seems Impossible to Shake Off, is Hanging Over Society People.

Charming Musicals By the Misses Peck at the Residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mather.

Marriage of Miss Mary K. Gibson and Alfred J. Frantz Last Evening—A Coming Wedding.

Daring the summer months is the socially active period in Duluth. It is then that the city is filled with visitors and entertainments in their honor and for their pleasure make the season quite brilliant. When the fall season comes an apathy steals over the set which it seems hard to shake off. This is in decided contrast to what is usual in other cities. The fall and winter seasons are active and brilliant and the summer resorts monopolize everything during warm weather. The coming winter may be that Duluth is a summer resort. Another assembly party is to be given within a week or two and will be held with delight. It is not long before the Charity ball, the great event of the Duluth social season.

A CHARMING MUSICAL.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mather's Pleasing Entertainment Tuesday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mather gave a musical on Tuesday evening at their home on East Second street. The program was given by Miss Peck, vocalist, and Miss Hattie Peck, pianist, assisted by Ernest Lachmund, cellist, and was artistic and pleasing in every particular. About eighty people were present.

Miss Peck has a voice possessing natural beauty and ease, which has been largely developed by cultivation. She sang Haydn's "With Verdure, Glad," Nevin's "Fair Son of Corbin," Butterfield's "I'll Fly to Heaven," Hush Shad a "Tear," this being given by her daughter's marriage.

Miss Bertha Pearson and Axel Strom will be married this evening at Grace M. church.

Miss Lydia Lynam on Thursday evening entertained Miss Dickinson, Miss Simonds, Clarence Shepard and H. Abbott at dinner at their home, 223 Fifteenth avenue east.

Personal Mention.

Rev. Charles Short, of Goshen, Ind., who was the guest of his nephew William S. Bishop, returned to his home on Thursday, going on the City of Duluth.

Bertram Sears, who has been spending his vacation with his parents and Mrs. Sears, left on Tuesday for the county, where he enters the sophomore class of Yale university.

Miss Daisy Leuer, who has been visiting here, leaves Tuesday for her home in Missouri.

Mr. Elizabeth Downie, of Owatonna, is the guest son of Mrs. Downie.

Miss Fannie Barrett, of Tower, visited Mrs. Smithy this week and on the ceremony. The bride and her mother, the bride and her father and attended by Miss Eva Nichols, of Minneapolis. The groom met the bride in the rear parlor and the ceremony was performed there.

Chas. F. Frantz, the groom's brother was best man. Only a few immediate friends, numbering about fifty were present.

After the ceremony there was a reception and light refreshments. The bridal couple left on the 10:30 P. M. Duluth St. Paul and from there will go to Pennsylvania, where they will visit the home of the groom's parents. A large number of presents were received.

Farewell Surprise Party.

On Thursday evening Miss Brady and Miss Mabel Brady were agreeably surprised by a party of friends at their home on West Fourth street. The Misses Brady are about to remove to Grand Rapids and this was given as a farewell party. Music had been provided and there was dancing. Refreshments were served, farewell songs were sung and it was thoroughly enjoyable. Among those present were Misses Magie Weber, Klein, McHarg, Naugton, Mary Naughton, and Messrs. Cliff, Weber, McHarg, Hessian, Evans, J. Tischert, L. P. Tischert.

Todd-Stevens Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Fred Stevens of Duluth, will be celebrated on Oct. 3 at the First Presbyterian church in Hendrum, Minn. After the wedding they will return to Duluth and will occupy a pretty home on Fifteenth avenue east, which is now under construction. Mr. Todd is well known in Duluth, having been here for some time. Mr. Stevens is assistant manager of the Cranberry Lumber company and has a wide circle of friends.

A Birthday Party.

Little Miss Jessie Campbell at 403 East Third street entertained a number of friends at a birthday party yesterday afternoon from 4 until 7 o'clock. Dancing, singing and the playing of games enabled the little folks to pass a most pleasant afternoon. The occasion was the tenth anniversary of Jessie's birth. Guests were: Misses Jessie, Anna, Hattie, Alice Lambert, Cleo Phelan, Thressa Beatty, Elizabeth Rickford, Josie England, Mamie Tresise, Fannie Levine and Iona Peterson. Miss Minnie Vile, of Port Arthur, furnished the piano music to which the little ones danced or sang.

Preparing a Nest.

There is now being erected on East First street a pretty and cosy looking residence which is to be the delightful little nest to which a well known Duluth society will lead a charming bride before many more months.

Social Mention.

A dance was given Wednesday evening at the Hotel Orpheum's League. About 150 couples were present.

John Arnold Keyes and Miss Etta M. Peck were married at Madison, Wis., on Sept. 12, 1894. They are expected to return to Duluth soon.

Judge Dickinson has taken one of the Munger flats and will occupy it with his family.

Miss Florence Dingwall and W. H. Dennis were married on Tuesday and are at home at Lakeside.

Miss Rose Tetu and William O'Connor were married last Wednesday at St. Clement's church. The bride wore a white cashmere frock trimmed in silver. A suit was given her by the home of Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, 2014 West Second street, and a dance was given that evening by Mrs. Tetu in honor of her daughter's marriage.

Miss Bertha Pearson and Axel Strom will be married this evening at Grace M. church.

Friends and Parishioners of Rev. E. M. Noyes

Bid Him Godspeed.

A large number of the church and congregation met to render the kindly leadership of Rev. E. M. Noyes gathered in the beautifully decorated parlors of Pilgrim Congregational church last night to bid their pastor a formal fare-well. Mr. Noyes has been a favorite with those in his charge, and the parting will with deep regret by all concerned.

Mr. Munger, Dr. Thoburn, Dr. Salter and Rev. Mr. Price spoke on behalf of the members of the church. Mr. Noyes made a response, during which he spoke of his work and said that he could not express his feelings in words. He presented to the church a painting of himself presented two years ago by the ladies of the church. The members of the church presented Mr. Noyes with a album containing the names and good wishes of many of his Duluth friends.

W. S. Woodbridge made the address in behalf of the church. "It is a pleasure," he said, "to do more for my mother and myself, the devoted friends, the faithful pastor, with whom this pleasure comes the sadness contained in the word fare-well. No wonder that joy and sadness meet here tonight, as we think of what we now lose. Let us take as our cheering and inspiring thought the word 'God-speed'."

"We know, dear brother, that God has a great work for you in the coming years. He has given you noble powers and you have consecrated them to his service. We shall always hear of your hard work, a work which he has in a large measure fitted you by the life of loving service among us."

STUDYING HUMANITY.

No More Advantageous Place For the Student of Human Nature Than a Railroad Station.

Scene at the Union Depot a Few Nights ago Which is Duplicated Almost Every Day.

Curious Mingling of Comedy, Pathos and Every Element in the Cosmopolitan Crowd.

A student of human nature can make no better stamping ground than a railway station, commonly miscalled "depot." And this is especially true of a union station into which run the trains of roads coming from all parts of the country. There is no place where so great a variety of people may be found and studied.

It is cosmopolitan in its nature, and all nations are represented there. It is also a mixture of classes, each class, each other, from the man whose wealth and position bring him the privilege of riding in the private car of one of the officials of some road down through the man who is able to take the chair or sleep in a boxcar, and the cheap way, as far as possible, with a seat in a second class coach which becomes a hell at night in which the traveler squirms about trying to find the softest and easiest position.

The last thing that tends to destroy the democracy of a railway station is the despotic sway exercised by the imperial individual who sits frowning in awful dignity behind the ticket window, scaring the ordinary person not accustomed with the ways of thinking of an official to his address with caution and respect. His gruff and abrupt manner in answering inquiries is responsible for this, but it is all put on, and he is not much worse than the ordinary individual who tries to ace.

Everybody, that is almost everybody, travels some time in his life, so if there is any particular kind of people you want to find you can attain your object by taking a seat in the waiting room and waiting long enough. One reason why a railway station is a good place for the study of human nature is that there is no other place where one can find people as naturally as with all artifices cast aside. In church, theater, or on the street, people carry themselves as if it were presenting their best side to the world.

In a railway station the hurry and bustle cause the majority to throw aside their veneering and appear as nature formed them with their bad habits and little self-control, and the instinct of the weaker takes time to serve them. This is evidenced by the well-dressed person seen hurrying up to the ticket window, carelessly pushing aside whoever may be in his way without respect to ace.

At last, spent in the Duluth Union depot one evening before the departure of the St. Paul & Duluth night train, proved an interesting experience. A kaleidoscopic panorama of humanity, constancy, and wear down, the drama was enacted, comedy and tragedy, pathos and humor, mingled so bewilderingly that at times it was hard to distinguish one from the other.

At first the station was deserted except by the depot employees, but as the time for the departure of the train drew near the wayfarers began to congregate. The first to enter the depot was a miss of 16 or so alone and carrying a heavy load in the shape of a grip-sack. She was evidently establishing a home for herself on her first trip alone.

She had evidently been instructed on the way in which she should conduct herself, and warned to make no acquaintance with strangers, for she carried herself primly and looked neither to left or right as she marched to a seat, looked at her small gold watch and sat down, depositing her precious grip beside her where the coat was laid.

The next evening a "round of revelry by night" was heard approaching, and with many bursts of drunken laughter and many cheerful oaths a party of rioters came into the room. One of the drunkards of the lot, carrying a revolver, and every now and then was plainly to be read. A member of a jolly gang of night hawks was about to leave, and in his honor a final racket was indulged.

The honoree, with his fat style derby at a rakish angle on the tie, window and purchased his ticket, supporting his weight on the counter meanwhile. This accomplished, his friends gave him a noisy go-supper and left.

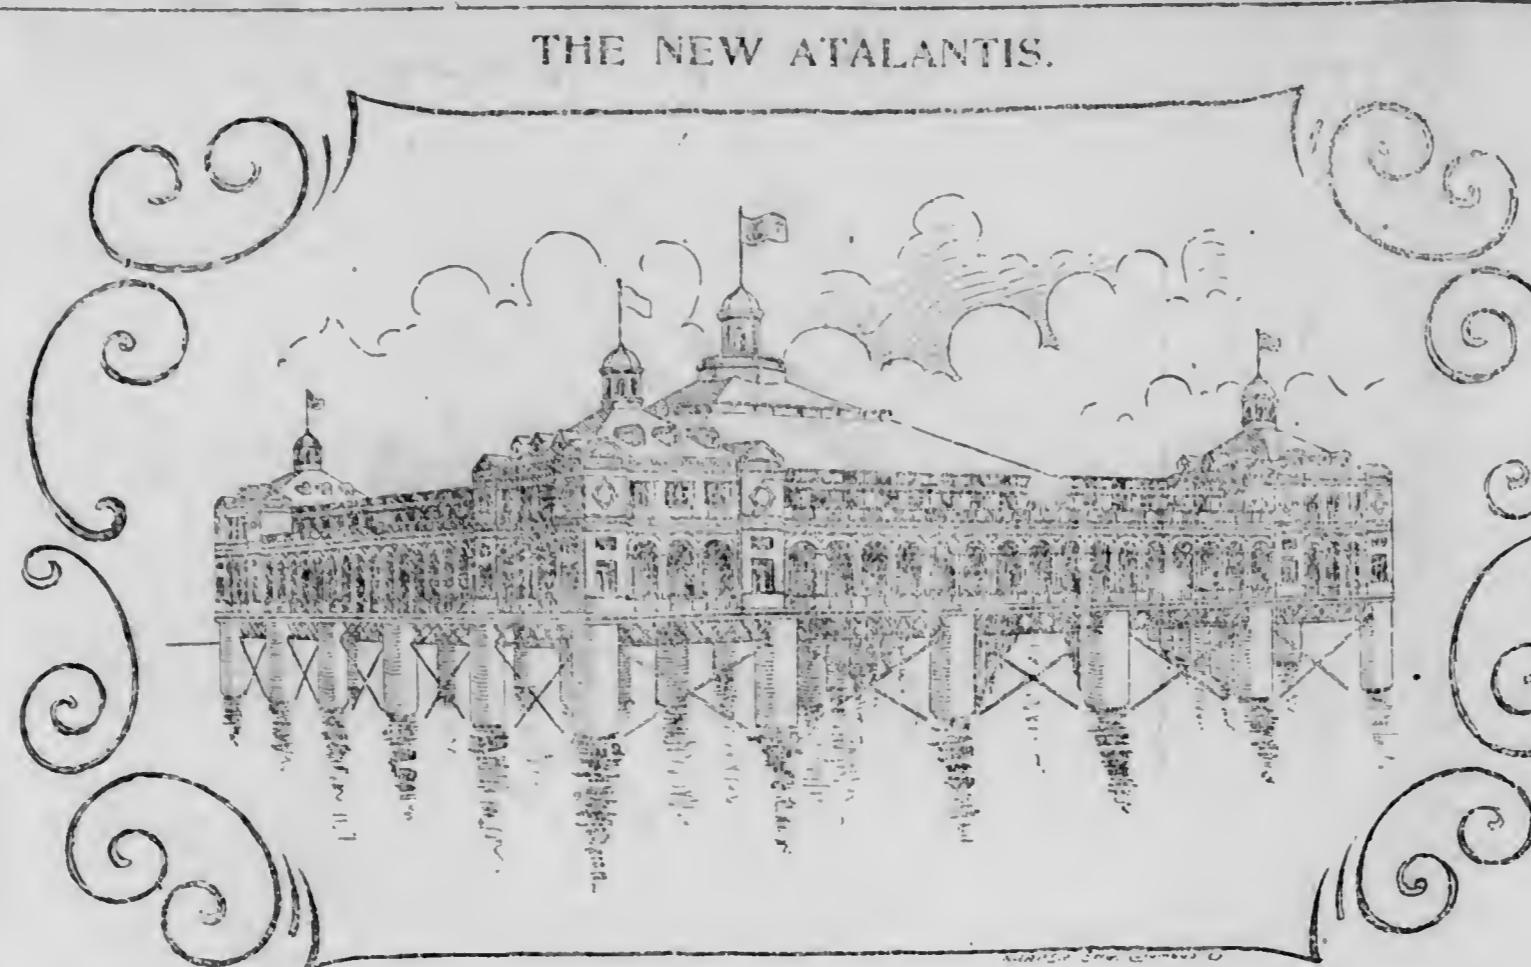

It was not apparent that any baking powder, when presented in competition with the Royal, either at the government tests or before World's fair juries, has ever received favor or reward over the Royal or made an equal showing in purity, strength or wholesomeness.

Next came a common place business man, who had himself down, comforted in a seat and proceeded to read a paper without looking around at the other occupants of the room.

He was followed by a woodsman with the customary pack and ax, together with a remarkably strong and attractive bald cap.

The next party was a pathetic one, although the story connected with them could only be surmised. A sad-eyed, refined-looking woman in black, carrying a baby which she was capable of carrying, was accompanied by an untidy, shiftless, weak-kneed and blear-eyed wreck of a man, apparently the husband of the woman in black and father of the child.

The woman, tearful state of intoxication, and the woman led his shamefully weak and degraded form to a seat somewhat apart from the rest. There she talked pleadingly to the remnant of a man by her side, tears starting to her eyes, and the man, his appearance to her talk was fruitless, for the man doggedly shook his head. She renewed her pleadings, until suddenly the

THE NEW ATALANTIS.

Beyond the jurisdiction of the United States, eleven miles from the Long Island shore, in seventy feet of water, New York promoters intend building a mammoth hotel, with a foundation of iron piling driven into the ocean bed. An interesting summer resort it will be principally; but beyond the reach of authority and law it will be a road to ruinous for prostitution and sporting events now frowned upon by the authorities. The illustration above from the architect's plans gives an idea as to the proposed building. Plenty of capital is back of the enterprise and the progress it is making would indicate that it will be only a year or two until its completion.

The woman saw that they had attracted the attention of the other occupants of the room, and blushing painfully she drew the man back into his seat, when he began to cry. In despair the woman left him and went to the next. The man placed his face in his hands, his elbows on his knees, and bent over, a pitiful dilapidated spectacle.

A crowd stood in front of the ticket office, and as the hands of the clock neared the hour of departure those in the room exchanged glances, chatted together, preparations to take the train. By taking a stand near the ticket window it was made plain why the man in charge gets such a reputation for lack of patience and politeness.

THE WORLD OF LABOR

The Favorable Feature in the Local Situation is the General Improvement Reported in Work.

Efforts to Induce Eugene V. Debs to Visit Duluth This Fall Are Likely to Fail.

Members of Organized Labor in Duluth Eagerly Discussing Politics and All Sure to Vote.

News in the field of organized labor is scarcer than hen's teeth this week. The Federated Trades assembly does not meet until next week, so, of course, this is the off week for things new with the regular trades.

There is one very satisfactory thing to chronicle, anyway, and that is the general improvement in work. Common laborers are really getting scarce. A prominent merchant stated the other morning that he had been trying to find a man to work about his residence premises for a few days but had been unable to find one. Quite a number of union men who have been compelled to seek labor outside of their crafts for the past week have been observed back at their regular trades.

Considerable correspondence has been carried on between the Duluth resident of the A. R. U. with a view to get him to visit Duluth for two or three addresses. A letter was received by one of the A. R. U. boys the past week in which Mr. Debs expressed small hope of being able to do so.

There is a question discussed among the members of organized labor in Duluth this fall as never before. Several union men have been nominated for county offices and a good many of the boys have given their names to be put forward for the election. Union men are wide awake politically this fall, and, whatever their party affiliations, they will all shout for their side and not fail to vote on Nov. 6.

A LABOR DAY TALK.

Address Delivered at the Celebration in Newark, N. J.

[Address delivered by Joseph R. Buchanan at the celebration given under the auspices of Essex Trades Council, Newark, N. J., on Monday, Sept. 3, 1894.]

This is the time which we celebrate, calling it Labor day, differs from other days to which we give special observance in that it has no significance attaching to its past, it is not the anniversary of any pre-eminent achievement and does not recall the birth of any great man or the performances of any glorious act. It is not the first day of the year, for labor has yet to establish its Declaration of Independence. It is not as the 23rd of February, for the army of labor has not yet been led to victory by its Washington, nor has it learned to be grateful to the memory of the gallant champions who have passed away while fighting on the skirmish lines that have preceded the grand and final battle. Nor is Labor day like unto the 17th of March, for the vipers which suck the blood of industry are not yet driven from our land. Labor day is, so to speak, impersonal and without a history. It has any significance at all, it is to remind us of the physical labor and to the performance of the laborers for the improvement of their material condition, nor their advancement as citizens. So it would be impossible to select from the days in the year, in all of which labor has, since time began, contributed to the progress of man more than all other factors combined, one day peculiarly, by contrast with other days, fitted for commemoration.

The first Monday of September in each year has been designated by legislative enactment as Labor day in response to the requests of organized labor. And it enjoys the distinction of being one of the hundred requests of many kinds of the powers that be by the workingmen. On this day we assemble to commune together, to talk over the events of the past year, to examine into the present and to discuss the hopes, the needs and the promises, if there are any such, of the future. If we shall do these things intelligently, and wise action follows open deliberation, then will Labor day have been more than a mere holiday and will have earned for itself a place of prominence in the calendar of the future.

While this present occasion is under the auspices of organized labor and I in accordance with its invitation to address you, I easily recognize as my guide what I shall say will bear upon all wage workers, and I know the sentiments of Essex Trades council when I declare that what is known as the American labor movement is and is dependent upon the organized wage earners for its guidance and in view the improvement of the material condition of every worker in the land and the uplifting of a citizenship which is fast becoming degraded by the de-thronement of man and the deification of the dollar.

What is "the labor problem" of which we hear and speak much in these closing hours of the nineteenth century? Why should the distribution of the products of labor be called a "problem" when in the mind of every intelligent man is deep rooted the truth that to him who creates wealth belongs the whole of his creation save that which should go to the common fund in recompence for the use of what is naturally common property?

"The labor problem" in the view which our plutocracy has written in its notebook is a calculation as to how much the few, who have monopolized the natural opportunities intended by the Creator for all his children, may wring from the many who have been dispossessed. The political economy which Mammon is cramping down our throats is the science or robbing the laborers of the product of their labor. The working out of the problem on those lines is only checked by the occasional introduction of a factor which points to the possibility of successful rebellion on the part of the robust. The "labor question," which is another prevalent form of expression, is as I see it, "How can the laborers protect their rights and their lives in the things they produce?" This is a question we must answer, and answer right and answer soon.

I need not take up the time to tell this audience of the awful conditions which surround the producers of this country at the present time. The terrible story, illustrated with scenes which make the heart ache, is told over and over again day after day. It is written in the haggard faces of women and little children. It is spoken in the bowed form of the heartbroken father. It is ground out under the wheels of the cart on its way to market field. What is bleeding is that desperation's hand, staled by the "honor which springs eternal in the human breast," else would misery, whispering the seductive word "Revenge," turn hopeless men into fiends, and—but let us turn away from further contemplation of this terrible picture.

What is the laborer's answer to the labor question? Organization! In this one word is contained the open sesame which has the power to throw wide the prison doors and to break the shackles which enslave the producers—the poor, which has now practically the same meaning.

The "poor man" and "the workingman" have come to be synonymous terms. In other words, the wealth producers are those without wealth.

The spirit of the age is of organization. Tear a leaf from the handbook of capitalism, and you will see that it begins with organization and ends with concentration. But the organization of capitalism aims only at concentration and appropriation of the results of industry, while the organization of labor looks to its equitable distribution. One is for the monopoly of natural opportunities, tools and the products of labor, with the inevitable enslavement of the laborer, while the other aspires to secure for every man who obeys the divine command and earns his bread in the sweat of his brow equal opportunity to work out his own salvation. The spirit of plutocracy is "Whales eat big fishes, big fishes eat little fishes, and little fishes eat mud." The creed of the labor organization is, "An injury to one is an injury to all."

What better evidence do you want that organization is the first and most important essential to the protection of the rights of labor than is found in the efforts of the barons and magnates to crush the associations which the workers have formed? If you want more testimony in that line, you can find it in the editorial utterances of the organs of plutocracy, which are only hypocrisy itself, that "the interests of labor are best advanced by individual effort."

There is a good place to quote from President Lincoln's message to the second session of the Thirty-seventh congress. Said that greatest of presidents:

Monarchy itself is sometimes hinted at as a possible refuge from the power of the people. In my present position I could scarcely be induced to do so, but I do not mean to be understood as against this approach of returning despotism. It is not needed nor fitting here that a general argument should be made in favor of popular institutions, but there is one point which it is well to keep in mind, and that is that the people are not to be reckoned as mere tools to which I ask a half attention. It is the effort of the people to be organized, to be educated, to be a political party or a union. It would be unwise for a majority of any organization to attempt to coerce a minority through its connection with a union whose prime objects are economic to support any political party or measure. When such efforts have been made, they have invariably resulted in damage to the organization. But I believe that it is the duty and the part of wisdom for labor organizations to educate their members upon all political questions which bear upon industry. More than that I believe that the time has come when the intelligent men in labor's ranks, in and out of the unions, must go into politics, and that opportunities which diverge widely from those following the twin political machines of plutocracy.

Labor is oppressed today because the political parties which have divided the control of our lawmaking machinery during the past quarter of a century have been and are yet absolutely under the control of corporations. Special privileges have been granted to interests which are able to influence legislation, and the rights of the people have been bartered and sold by Judases who betrayed the confidence reposed in them.

Webster tells us that politics is the science of government, and if there is no science, then there is no art. The more we study politics, the more we will be able to do for the progress of our country.

Do I believe that such is the mission of labor organization? I do! Lincoln has told you that the toilers must do it, and I tell you that only through well organized, carefully thought, fearlessly organized effort can it be done.
